Canada Railroads Continue to Lose Business

Passenger and Freight Trends Both Decline, Senate Figures Show

Pay Scale Obsolete

OTTAWA (CP) — Special agreements between Canadian railways and their running trades are "seriously obsolescent if not totally obsolete," Professor J. L. MacDougall of Queen's University commerce department told the Senate railways committee today. He was giving evidence on wages and working conditions of the running trades.

As an example Professor MacDougall showed that on a 10-hour run a member of a particular running crew was paid for two basic days and received $20.70. The locomotive engineer is the most skilled member of a train crew, he pointed out, and even that employee need not be a person of unusual skill.

DECLINE CONTINUES

In a general review of the railways position Prof. MacDougall showed that since 1923 there had been a declining trend in gross earnings. In 1923 gross freight revenue of Canadian railroads had been 7.85 per cent of the grand total of national income produced in the country. In 1937 this had declined to 5.91 per cent. Similarly gross passenger incomes had fallen from 1.98 per cent to 0.85 per cent.

This had been due to many factors, not only motor competition. The latter had only become important about 1929.

"The lush earnings which they once had upon their main lines have been very greatly reduced and the modest profits on many branch lines have been replaced by substantial losses," Professor MacDougall said.

It would be a "grave mistake" to attribute all this to motor competition. The losses were incurred at a time when the volume of passenger travel was increasing more rapidly than at any time in the past.

WAGE SYSTEM ARCHAIC

The engineer, most skilled member of the train crew, "need not be a person of an unusual skill," he said.

"A man of sound intelligence could be trained to operate a locomotive in a very short time," said Prof. MacDougall.

Professor MacDougall cited the methods of payment, a system of "incentive wage payment" introduced in the midwestern United States in the late 1880's.

Among the results of the refusal of the unions to change "the basic equation" as railway operating conditions and general economic conditions changed, he noted:

1. It made the wages cost per train mile "absolutely inflexible." Its influence was toward encouraging the railway management to increase the size of trains and therefore to reduce the volume of employment offered.

2. As train speeds increased, it made it necessary either to give the senior employees who took the fast runs the opportunity to make inordinately large earnings or else to give them "rather startling amounts of leisure time by limiting the maximum monthly mileage which they may run."

3. There was a tendency to define each job narrowly and then extract additional payment for any service outside the narrow range of duties performed.

There was no way to reduce wages per train mile, Professor MacDougall proceeded, except by canceling trains. The result of the increasing speed of trains in recent years was that there is a growing discrepancy in the time paid for the time actually worked.

Precautions Taken Against Sabotage

B.C. Police Co-operate With Federal Police And Military

Steps to prevent sabotage, as a precaution if there is any outbreak of hostilities in Europe are being taken by the B.C. government, in collaboration with federal authorities, Attorney-General Gordon Wismer announced today.

He said Col. Eric Pepler, deputy attorney-general, and T. W. S. Parsons, deputy commissioner of B.C. police, are in Vancouver today discussing the matter with Royal Canadian Mounted Police, military officials and Vancouver police.

Mr. Wismer said the government was fully aware of the need for precautions and was co-operating fully with the national defence department and Dominion police.

Naturally, he said, no details could be disclosed, but plans would include protection of hydro-electric plants, water supplies, railway depots and other strategic points from any untoward incidents.

Large Royalty On Bren Guns

Government Must Pay Patentee $15 On Each Weapon

OTTAWA (CP)—Royalties to be paid the Czechoslovakian patentee of the Bren gun, ranging on a downward scale from $15 apiece for the first 17,000 guns produced, will be in addition to the cost of the weapons estimated in the government's contract with the John Inglis Company of Toronto.

Col. Orde, judge advocate-general of the Defence Department, who drew up the contract, gave this information today to the Commons public accounts committee which is examining all phases of the Bren order.

Recent developments in Czechoslovakia would have no bearing on the contract, Col. Orde thought.

Because the license from the patentee was held by the British War Office and the Canadian government had no direct dealings with the Czechoslovakian interests, the royalties were to be paid through the British government, Col. Orde said. No royalties would be payable until the gun was in actual production, which would be a matter of months.

MILLIONS IN GOLD STOLEN IN CONGO

BRUSSELS (AP)—The Belgian government disclosed today 700 arrests were expected in a vast gold theft conspiracy between negro workers and white traders in the Belgian Congo.

It said an average of 4,000 pounds of raw gold, valued at about $2,000,000, had been stolen yearly for many years at mines in the Kivu, Ituri, Ruanda and Urundi districts.

Police have arrested 29 white persons and 74 natives and said 600 more arrests were planned.

SPRING MELTING PRAIRIE SNOW

WINNIPEG (CP) — Spring's official advent presented the prairies today with bright sunshine and high temperatures. Snow melted on streets and highways.

Spring-like weather prevailed over Manitoba, where the mercury climbed rapidly and forecasts called for still milder weather. Winnipeg started the day with readings around 23 above, but the sun's warm rays sent the mercury upward.

It was clear and mild over Saskatchewan, with Saskatoon streets water-covered as the snow disappeared rapidly. Bright sunshine played over Regina, where the thermometer was expected to hit a new high for March before the day was over because at 7 o'clock this morning it was 23 above.

French President Cheered By London Crowds

Greeted as He Drives With King and Queen To Buckingham Palace

Accompanied By Wife

LONDON (AP)—President Albert Lebrun of France arrived in London for a three-day state visit amid increasing French-British collaboration in the face of German expansion.

King George and Queen Elizabeth welcomed the President and Mme. Lebrun at Victoria Station and accompanied them in an open carriage through troop-lined, flag-decked streets to Buckingham Palace.

Prime Minister Chamberlain, Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax, most of the other cabinet ministers and a crowd of notables were among those at the station. French Foreign Minister Georges Bonnet, who accompanied the President, was expected to have important conversations with British officials during the visit.

Thousands of spectators who gathered along the route from Victoria Station to Buckingham Palace cheered the visitors.

LEGATIONS END SERVICE IN PRAGUE

Problem for Gedye And Others Sheltered In British Building

PRAGUE (AP)—Foreign missions in this capital of subjugated Czechoslovakia are closing up on orders from their home governments.

The Polish minister to Prague left last night. The Italian and Hungarian ministers have gone. The British minister, Sir Basil Newton, expects to leave soon. The United States minister is packing prior to closing the legation.

Closing of the British legation presents a problem, however. Four British newspapermen, in fear of arrest, have received asylum there since German troops arrived last Wednesday. They are G. E. R. Gedye of the New York Times, Douglas Reed of the London News-Chronicle, Noel Panton of the London Daily Telegraph and H. P. Smollett of the Exchange Telegraph Agency.

Her Excellency has expressed a wish to do some walking in Victoria. On her free days she will be able to indulge in this, one of her favorite hobbies. The Governor will enjoy the grounds of Government House and hopes to have time to read and write each day.

They will be busy, nevertheless, as more than 20 public appearances have been arranged for them. They will visit hospitals and garden shows, service clubs, scout rallies and other functions of a public nature.

This evening they will have dinner quietly at Government House and retire early following a busy five days in Vancouver. Tomorrow has also been left free of engagements.

Lord and Lady Tweedsmuir have been to Victoria before and often expressed the wish that they some time enjoy a holiday here.

Shortly after arrival at Government House, however, His Honor and Mrs. Hamber took them on a tour to see the alterations that are being made there for the visit of the King and Queen. The four will discuss final plans to welcome Their Majesties to British Columbia.

Her Excellency is a home-loving person and is looking forward to spending several quiet evenings at Government House when she may knit and read and retire early.

171 Canadians Lucky in Draw Of Irish Sweep

Person With Ticket On Grand National Favorite Still Silent

Minor Prizes Today

By the Canadian Press

Drawing of the money-winning tickets in the Irish Hospitals sweepstake on Friday's Grand National Steeplechase at Aintree was favorable to 171 residents of Canada, but few identified themselves immediately.

Today in Dublin the drawing of the residuary and consolation prizes was completed, but in this country the person with the pseudonym "Dutch," whose chance of winning £30,000 ($150,000) was announced yesterday still had not disclosed his identity. He holds a ticket on Kilstar, 7 to 1 choice for the jumping classic.

A half interest in a ticket on the second favorite, Royal Danieli, is held by P. W. Stewart, a longshoreman of New Westminster. He sold half to a New York syndicate for an unannounced amount. His stub bears the name "Ossabaw," taken from a United States steeplechaser on a hunch.

A ticket held in Calgary on Perfect Party, quoted at 33 to 1, will be split 27 ways by a group who purchased under the name "Commissionaire Syndicate." They are sure of $2,650 for getting a horse and may win $75,000 or $50,000 if the horse places second or third, as well as having a chance at top money.

ANOTHER B.C. TICKET

VANCOUVER (CP)—A fourth British Columbian to hold an Irish Hospitals Sweepstake ticket on a horse in the Grand National Steeplechase came to light today when a Brighouse saddling shop proprietor said he had drawn "Underbid."

John Henry Marshall did not know if "Underbid" was a starter in the race to be run March 24, and seemed to care less. He said he had almost decided to sell a half interest in his ticket—KB29899—to a New York syndicate for $4,070.

"What do I want with $150,000," he said calmly. "I just want to live my own quiet life."

The ticket is the first Marshall has ever bought. He is not quite certain of the nom de plume, but thinks it's either "High Wind" or "Strong Wind."

Other British Columbia ticket-holders include Thomas Vicick of Vancouver, now employed in a logging camp on Vancouver Island, who holds ticket QR65253 on Downright, and Mrs. Harold Husband of Victoria who holds ticket CA77756 on News Item, both nonstarters in the race.

RESIDUARY PRIZES

DUBLIN (CP) — Canadian ticket holders today won four residuary prizes worth £842 ($3,941) each and 101 other Canadians drew consolation prizes worth £100 each as the flow of fortune from the Irish Hospital Sweepstakes dwindled.

DUCE'S COUNCIL DEBATES CZECHS

ROME (AP)—The crisis arising from Germany's advance into Czechoslovakia, involving the disappearance of that republic, was generally believed up for detailed discussion by Premier Mussolini tonight before the Fascist Grand Council, called to meet at 10 o'clock (1 p.m. P.S.T.).

It was possible, too, Mussolini would give first official voice to Italian claims against France.

Mussolini may give the Grand Council the official attitude toward German absorption of Bohemia, Moravia and Slovakia. Thus far no announcement has been made of congratulations by Il Duce to Chancellor Hitler.

(Some circles in Berlin, noting congratulations were made after German annexations of Austria and Czechoslovakia Sudetenland, speculated on the possibility Hitler's recent map-changing was not to Mussolini's liking.)

SUNDAY SPEECH

Diplomats doubted, however, whether any decision of the Grand Council regarding international affairs would be announced before a speech the premier is to make next Sunday.

Halt Hitler Plan May Be Signed

Britain Invites Russia, France, Poland; Rejects Soviet's Conference Scheme

LONDON (AP)—Britain today asked Soviet Russia, France and Poland to sign a "Halt Hitler" declaration binding them to "consult as to action they would take" in case of further German expansion attempts.

The "final draft of the declaration," authoritative British sweepstake on Friday's Grand National Steeplechase at Aintree was favorable to 171 residents of Canada, but few identified themselves immediately.

TASS STATEMENT

MOSCOW (AP)—The Russian government announced today it had proposed to Great Britain a six-power conference of "the most interested states" affected by Germany's absorption of Czechoslovakia, but that "the British government found this proposal premature."

In a communique issued by Tass, the official news agency, the government said that in its opinion "such a conference would afford the maximum possibilities for elucidation of the real situation and the positions of all participants in the conference."

As "most interested states" the communique named Great Britain, France, Poland, Roumania, Turkey and Russia.

The communique denied foreign reports the Soviet government recently offered its help to Poland and Roumania in the event they became victims of aggression.

"Neither Poland nor Roumania applied for help to the Soviet government nor informed the latter of any danger threatening them," the communique said.

"What actually did take place is that on March 18 the British government informed the Soviet government of the existence of weighty reasons to fear an act of violence over Roumania and inquired about the possible position of the Soviet government in such an eventuality.

"In reply to this inquiry the Soviet government advanced a proposal for convocation of a conference of representatives of the most interested states."

VICTORIANS SHARE IN N.Y. ESTATE

NEW YORK—Mrs. Robert B. Morton and son, David Morton, of 1007 St. Louis Street, Oak Bay, Victoria, are listed as legatees in the will of her mother, the late Nellie G. Taylor of New York, filed for probate today in Surrogates Court here. Mrs. Morton is left personal property and one-third the residual estate. Her son receives one-third.

Other beneficiaries are John D. Taylor of Miami, Fla., a son; Suzanne Taylor of St. Petersburg, Fla., a daughter-in-law; Emma Barker of Scranton, Pa., a niece, and several friends.

Mrs. Taylor died March 7, in her 78th year. At the death of her husband, William H. Taylor, she became an anthracite coal operator, taking over the business in 1928. Her husband was president and owner of the St. Clair Coal Company of St. Clair, Pa. She was active in the operation of tht company until January, when she left on a trip to the Pacific coast, stopping for a visit in Phoenix, Ariz., where her death ocurred.

Property left by the decedent is declared "more than $20,000."

NO PARLIAMENT FOR BOHEMIA

PRAGUE (AP)—Emil Hacha, last president of the vanished Czechoslovak republic, today dissolved its Parliament and in its place was established a "state committee" of 12 to govern Bohemia and Moravia under direction of the Reich of Adolf Hitler.

No elections were provided for. The new German protectorate of Bohemia-Moravia will have no parliament. In its place there will be a council of 100 persons chosen to "advise" the state committee.

All will be under the rule of Hitler's Reich protector, Baron Konstantin von Neurath, appointed Saturday.

Lord Stanley Estate Totals $10,386,356

LONDON (CP) — Lord Stanley, who died October 16, 1938, left an estate valued at £2,209,863 (approximately $10,386,356) on which duty amounting to £1,029,520 ($4,838,444) has been paid.

Lord Stanley was Secretary of State for the Dominions and the Earl of Derby's heir. He died a few days after returning from a visit to Canada.

Hitler Explains To Mussolini

Sends Letter So Duce Will Understand About Czech Seizure

BERLIN (AP)—Adolf Hitler made doubly sure today his Italian axis partner, Premier Mussolini, understands developments of last week when Germany absorbed parts of Czechoslovakia.

The Reichsfuehrer gave Italian ambassador Bernardo D. Attolico a personal letter to Mussolini, persons close to the Italian embassy said, before the envoy left last night for Rome to report to Il Duce. He was expected back in a few days.

It was believed the next expansionist move would come at Memel this week-end.

Field-Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering and his wife left for San Remo, Italy, this afternoon to resume their vacation, interrupted last week when he was called back to Berlin. Later Goering is to see Mussolini, and possibly also Marshal Italo Balbo, Governor of Libya, in north Africa.

Foreign observers felt Hitler's permission to Goering to continue the holiday was an indication the question of the return to Germany of Memel—a 1,099-square mile Baltic strip under Lithuanian sovereignty — had been settled and Lithuanians had promised not to attempt to prevent that former German district from getting "home to the Reich."

Ambassador Attolico saw both Hitler and German Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop last night.

Eden Calls to Anti-aggressionists

LEAMINGTON, Eng. (CP-Havas)—Anthony Eden, addressing his constituents tonight, voiced what was regarded as an implied bid for Russian aid to prevent further aggression in Europe. The former Foreign Secretary said "it is no affair of ours whether a government is black or white, pink or red in its domestic policy."

Mr. Eden advocated an alignment of anti-aggressionist nations.

Daladier Sends Reservists Into Maginot Line

Large Number of Frenchmen Added to Defences Near Reich

60-Hour Work Week

PARIS (AP)—The Daladier government tonight called up an undisclosed number of reservists to assume posts in the Maginot Line defence zone near the German frontier.

Standards were set up in the Paris East station bearing the legend, "this way for all reservists."

The reservists called, many of whom were from the last two classes to complete their military service, had their military summonses checked at a station gate before boarding trains that took them to the northeast.

The authorized 60-hour work week — the first product of Premier Daladier's new dictatorial powers — had been extended earlier today to railways, miners and numerous other industries.

Moving rapidly to whip French productive capacity into shape to match Germany's the government announced also that a work week longer than 60 hours may be authorized if found necessary.

A communique said any person on relief who refused to accept work on national defence would be dropped from relief rolls for a year.

The announcement was part of a quick national defence reorganization, for which decree laws were issued.

The 16 decrees, signed yesterday by President Albert Leburn, not only signalled intensified production of war materials and a revamped military command system along the German frontier, but authorized the government to call reservists to the colors.

At the same time France, acting with Great Britain, redoubled diplomatic activities designed to check German expansion.

Diplomatic observers agreed that President Lebrun's state visit to London, starting today, would serve as the background for talks of far-reaching importance between the French and British foreign ministers, Georges Bonnet and Viscount Halifax, on means of rebuilding the anti-German bloc in eastern Europe.

GERMAN WOUNDED IN ROUMANIA

Observers Say Shooting May Cause Pressure By Reich

BUCHAREST (AP) — The shooting of a German citizen by a Jew at Brasov caused concern today in the Roumanian capital, where King Carol has taken the lead in a Balkan struggle to escape German political and economic domination.

The wounded man was reported in a grave condition.

Some sources believed Germans might regard the shooting at the town 100 miles northwest of Bucharest as an "international incident."

The German, Dr. Hjalmar Krarzt, had gone to a Jewish community house at Brasov, reports from there said, and an argument between him and the doorman's wife developed, whereupon her husband appeared and shot him. Dr. Krarzt was taken to a hospital.

MELBOURNE (CP-Reuters)—Prime Minister Joseph Lyons announced after a cabinet meeting Tuesday that Australia would co-operate with Great Britain's endeavors to deal with the international situation.

He said the British government would be assured of Australia's readiness to co-operate and of her whole-hearted support of British efforts for peace and security.

The Melbourne Herald declared Australia approved the efforts of the British government to consolidate the opposition to Germany's expansionist program in Europe.

"Australia approves the new realistic policy against the German menace and welcomes the proposal to bring in Russia," the paper said.

Hungary Calls Out More Men

But Reports of Partial Mobilization Are Denied

BUDAPEST (AP) — Hungary held the bulk of her armed forces on the Roumanian frontier today, but officials denied the country was in a state of partial mobilization.

Many troops have been summoned and military sources said others would be called soon to the colors, but objections were raised in an official statement to use of the phrase "partial mobilization" in this connection.

Maurice Castagne, correspondent for a French news agency, who used that phrase in a dispatch, was ordered to leave the country.

Foreign military observers estimated the total number under arms at 500,000, of whom at least half were believed to be on or near the Hungarian-Roumanian frontier, especially in the unfortified section which previously was the border between Carpatho-Ukraine and Roumania.

With the additional men expected to be called, it was believed that Hungary's armed strength would rise to 700,000.

Thousands of families moved out of the eastern border zone as the new troops moved in.

EARTH SHOCKS IN SOUTH CALIFORNIA

EL CENTRO, Calif. (AP) — The second sharp earthquake of the day jarred portions of the Imperial Valley at 5.51 a.m., P.S.T., today, accompanied by a clearly audible roar.

Police Sergt. George Bucklin said the tremor lasted five seconds, and rattled dishes, but did no damage. He reported it also was felt strongly in Calexico, to the south on the Mexican border, but not in Brawley, 14 miles north. A one-second "jarring" quake was felt at 12.35 a.m.

U.S. Note to Germany Says No Legal Basis for Protectorate

WASHINGTON (AP)—A note to Germany released by the State Department today, said the United States "does not recognize any legal basis exists" for Germany's protectorate over Bohemia and Moravia.

Enclosed with the note was a copy of the statement acting Secretary of State Welles made last Friday containing the United States "condemnation" of what were described as Germany's "acts of wanton lawlessness and arbitrary force."

The United States note sent yesterday acknowledged the receipt of the German note of last Friday informing this government of the terms of the decree issued March 16 by the government of the Reich announcing the assumption of a protectorate over the provinces of Bohemia and Moravia.

After declining recognition, the note said the views of the United States government were made known last Friday and for the information of the German government a copy of Welles' statement was enclosed.

This last paragraph had the effect of placing Welles' statement, which had been made to the public, on a diplomatic basis.

TEXTS PUBLISHED

The State Department released the text of the March 17 German note, which consists almost entirely of the text of the March 16 decree.

"Under article six of this decree," the German note said, "the German Reich takes charge of the foreign affairs of the protectorate, in particular, of the protection of its nationals of foreign countries. The former diplomatic representatives of Czechoslovakia in foreign countries are no longer qualified for official acts."

The United States note of reply did not respond specifically to this paragraph, but an official said the refusal to recognize any legal basis for Hitler's acts toward Czechoslovakia could be taken to include reference to Czechoslovakia's diplomatic representation.

Mr. Welles, commenting on Lord Halifax's announcement in the House of Lords yesterday that the British government was consulting with other nations, said no communication had been addressed to the United States government on this subject by any other government.

MEMEL SURRENDER EXPECTED SOON

Lithuanian Officials Moving Families Out; German Troops Massing

KAUNAS, Lithuania (AP)—Dr. Ernest Neumann, Nazi leader in Memel, announced today he expected "Lithuania to surrender the Memel territory in the near future."

The statement came as Lithuanian officials were reliably reported to be moving their families out of the little Baltic district—which was German before the Great War and now is under Lithuanian sovereignty. A widespread belief was held Memel's return to Germany was imminent.

Dr. Neumann declared the continued association of Lithuania and Memel was "economically and culturally impossible."

In return for annexation to Germany, he said, Memel was prepared to grant Lithuania harbor rights.

GROUPS TALK

A secret conference of political groups in the Lithuanian parliament was called for today.

(Reports from Berlin indicated the Lithuanian and German foreign ministers during a talk yesterday reached an agreement for uncontested absorption of Memel into the Reich. When the Memel Diet meets Saturday it is expected by many to vote approval of reincorporation into Germany.)

It was reported here an entire German army corps had moved to East Prussia during the last few days.

Informed quarters here said Memellanders propose to present far-reaching demands to Lithuania, including:

Control of mails, telegraphs, railroads and other communications, with income from port dues handed over to Memel; reinstatement of dismissed Memel German state officials; withdrawal of the Lithuanian garrison and frontier police.

Franco Praises Hitler

BERLIN (AP) — General Franco of Nationalist Spain has sent congratulations to Chancellor Hitler for "the peaceful reincorporation of old Reich districts within the borders of Germany," it was announced officially.

TEST FLIGHT CRASH TAKES LIVES OF 10 EXPERTS— This shows the split wreckage of the Boeing's new four-motor stratoliner, which crashed near Adler, Wash., on Saturday. Fuselage of Boeing's aircraft's stratoliner plane strews the ground near Adler, Wash., after it crashed on a test flight, killing 10 persons. In the right foreground one of the motors is detached from the ship and rescuers can be seen removing bodies.

ITALY CALLS UP MORE RESERVISTS

But Number Under Arms Not as High As in September

ROME (AP)—Italians reported today the government had called to the colors for training and instruction further reservists of the 1901 army class, of whom 60,000 were called up in January.

Official confirmation of this report was lacking, but one responsible Fascist said it was only natural that Italy should be taking precautions in view of developments in France and Great Britain.

He said, however, Italy was doing much less than last September, when 300,000 reservists were called to the colors.

To gain another viewpoint on Germany's expansion the Italian envoy to Berlin had been summoned home to report.

POLAND HOLDS BACK ON BLOC

Unlikely to Join Economic Group Against Germany

By ROBERT RIEFFEL
Havas Correspondent

WARSAW—British efforts to create an economic bloc of democracies against Germany are unlikely to find support in Poland, political circles said today in discussing the visit here of Robert Hudson, secretary to the Department of Overseas Trade.

It was said Foreign Minister Joseph Beck has invariably followed the principle of refusing to join in any ideological bloc, of whatever nature, and that there is no reason to believe this principle has been abandoned.

"The German threat to Poland has always existed, and continues," said one Polish spokesman. "The participation of Poland in an economic campaign against Germany would not in any way either diminish or eliminate that threat. On the contrary it would only increase, and our political situation would not be made easier.

NEW BRIDGE PLAN IN VANCOUVER

Proposal Before Aldermen for Big Granville Street Span

VANCOUVER (CP)—Construction in the near future of a new $4,000,000 double-deck bridge to replace the present Granville Street span is proposed today in a report submitted to the civic board of works by City Engineer Charles Brakenridge.

Aldermen received the report for study after Major J. R. Grant, who designed and supervised construction of Vancouver's Burrard Bridge, had told them the present Granville Street span is impractical and inadequate.

The new bridge would be constructed just west of the present bridge with a high water clearance of 90 feet, thus eliminating necessity of a swing span as at present. It would have an 80-foot upper deck, including seven-foot sidewalks and a 66-foot roadway for six lanes of traffic and two sets of street car tracks.

The report said the upper deck of the bridge could be constructed with provision for adding a lower deck.

Bombing Sentences

BIRMINGHAM, Eng. (CP-Havas) — Robert MacCann, 23, and Hugh MacClusky, 29, were sentenced last night to prison terms of 10 years, and Thomas Magill, 19, to seven years for illegal possession of explosives in connection with recent terrorism attributed to the Irish Republican Army.

NAZI PRESS FLAYS WESTERN POWERS

Abuse Heaped On Attempt to Quarantine Germany After Seizure

BERLIN (AP) — The Nazi press showed increasing anger towards the western powers today.

The gravity of the international situation was reflected by Germany's summoning of her London and Paris ambassadors "to report" after Great Britain and France had called home their own envoys.

The controlled press heaped abuse on the two democracies which denounced German occupation of Czechoslovakia. A source close to the Wilhelmstrasse said the fact the press was permitted to cut so deeply into Anglo-German relations revealed the seriousness of the situation.

"If English policy is aimed at bringing the axis powers into a kind of quarantine," this source said, "then the determination here is to answer with unequivocal clarity and to meet all the consequences."

At the same time German newspapers featured that "Italy steadfastly is on the side of Germany," although there has been no usual announcement of telegraphed congratulations from Premier Mussolini to Chancellor Hitler.

Another anti-Comintern partner, Japan, wasted no time in extending congratulations to the Reich last week.

SAN QUENTIN STRIKE ENDED

All But 50 Convicts Eat Again After Food Protest

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (AP)—San Quentin's smouldering prison population went back to meals and work today as authorities searched for "agitators" after the second hunger strike in two months.

Warden Court Smith, who blamed the strike yesterday on "about 15 troublemakers" and hinted at revoking good behavior credits of strike leaders, said all but about 50 prisoners showed up today for breakfast.

"That's hardly more than a normal sick list," he said. "To all appearances, everything is normal."

Sixteen hundred of the 5,300 inmates of San Quentin, reputedly most populous prison in the United States, refused to eat their evening meal yesterday after a protest against the prison fare. Later, however, they went quietly to their cells along with 3,700 other convicts who had failed to join in the strike.

Guards threatened strikers with confinement on a bread and water diet if they refused to eat breakfast today.

Reich May Retaliate Against U.S. Tariff

BERLIN (AP) — A veiled threat Germany might retaliate against the United States government's imposition of a 25 per cent countervailing duty on most German products was made today by the Boersenzeitung, one of Germany's leading financial organs.

"That we in Germany shall now reflect as to whether and what counter-measures are now due to ensue—about this nobody should entertain the slightest doubts even for one moment," the newspaper said.

The Boersenzeitung asserted, however, farmers of the United States middle west would solve Germany's trade problem without her having to resort to counter-measures because the farmers "not only want to but must export."

Warm Words at Vancouver Hearing

Grain Board Chairman Says Scene Unique In His Experience

VANCOUVER (CP) — Chairman E. B. Ramsay of the Board of Grain Commissioners commented during the commission's second day of hearing here today that "never in my 10 years' experience on grain boards have I been treated by witnesses as I have here."

The chairman spoke after William Morrison, a witness subpoenaed by Mayor Lyle Telford of Vancouver to appear before the commission, had tried to tell the commission what he thought should be admissable evidence.

Mayor Telford asked the commissioners to declare newspaper clippings admissable as evidence, a step the commission declined to take yesterday, and again Mr. Ramsay declined.

"Well, I'll set a bonfire when I go across the prairies next week," His Worship said. "Believe me, the public will certainly get the facts."

At another point the mayor threatened to "go home" unless the commissioners gave him a signed copy of part of yesterday's records of the hearing.

4 British Fliers Killed

LINCOLN, Eng (CP-Havas)—Four Royal Air Force fliers were killed yesterday when a plane from the Wassington base crashed into a street here.

The victims were Pilot Officer Alexander McAllister, Sergeant Walter Harvey Freestone and Aircraftsmen Normane Vincent Newsham and Frederick Roy Greesill.

The new synthetic fibre, milk wool, is said to be 85 per cent as strong as wool, and with more elasticity.

TREATY BREACH NOT ANTICIPATED

LONDON (AP) — The report Germany might denounce the British-German naval treaty drew from an official spokesman today the reply the treaty was permanent and could not be terminated legally except with the consent of both parties.

Oliver Stanley, president of the board of trade, announced in the House of Commons Great Britain would re-examine, "in the light of events of last week, a trade agreement made last week between the Federation of British Industries and Reichsgruppe Industrie, a German manufacturing group.

"I have asked the Federation of British industries to discuss the matter with me," Mr. Stanley said in response to a number of questions.

Rt. Hon. James Brown Dies in Scotland

AYR, Scotland (CP)—Rt. Hon. James Brown, 76, who started work in the mines at 12 and rose to become the King's Lord High Commissioner to the general assembly of the Church of Scotland, died today.

The one-time miner and his mill-girl wife left a tiny cottage which rented for £10 ($47) a year to take up residence at Holyrood Palace as direct representatives of the King and Queen.

They held the honor three years—1914, 1930 and 1931—being appointed by a Labor government on each occasion.

Mr. Brown in 1918 was elected to the House of Commons for South Ayrshire. Defeated in the Conservative landslide of 1931, he was re-elected in 1935 and his death will necessitate a by-election.

CRITICISM OF CBC UNFOUNDED

M.P.'s Told Toronto Globe and Telegram Editorials in Error

OTTAWA (CP) — Editorial criticisms of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation by two Toronto newspapers, the Globe and Mail and the Evening Telegram, were the subject of a statement by Gladstone Murray, general manager of the CBC, before the Commons radio committee today. The criticisms later were retracted.

Last Friday the CBC carried over its network the speech of Prime Minister Chamberlain at Birmingham. This was carried without comment, Mr. Murray stated, except the courtesy credit that it was presented in co-operation with the British Broadcasting Corporation.

The Columbia Broadcasting System in the United States also carried the speech with a commentary by H. V. Kaltenborn, American commentator. The Globe and Mail in a front page editorial on Saturday criticized the CBC for carrying this commentary. The Telegram also carried an editorial attacking the CBC long the same lines.

The editorials, the general manager said, "were based on a demonstrable and now admitted untruth.'"

South Africa Debates Possible War Position

CAPETOWN, South Africa (CP-Reuters) — General Jan Kemp, Minister of Lands, speaking for the South African government, today ridiculed a proposal of the Nationalist opposition party that a plebiscite should decide whether the Union should participate in a European war.

The minister added, however, the country would not go to war unless Parliament decided on such a step.

Die Burger of Capetown, official organ of the Nationalists, said "it is imperative the Union government make a statement of policy before the storm breaks, since a large majority are opposed to participation in a European war."

BATTLES ON LONG LINES IN CHINA

Large Forces Struggle In North Hunan And North Kiangsi

SHANGHAI (AP) — Thirteen Japanese units Tuesday battled five Chinese divisions along a 170-mile line in northern Hunan and Kiangsi provinces as the Japanese sought to revitalize their stalled drive toward Nanchang, Kiangsi's capital.

The battle raged over rain-soaked terrain between Lakes Tungting and Poyang and 100 miles southeast of Hankow. More than 1,000 Chinese were reported killed at Wuning, in a bayonet assault that followed the shelling.

Other Japanese units tried to advance the drive in Hupeh province, shoving northward along the Han River behind aerial attacks, while still others, 600 miles away, threatened to carry the war into central Chekiang province.

A Japanese crossing in force of the Chientang River, below Hangchow, Chekiang capital, and intensified aerial bombardment of Chinese concentrations through central Chekiang caused apprehension for the safety of more than 20 United States missionaries at Kinhwa, Kingpo and Shaohing.

CATARRHAL DEAFNESS MAY BE OVERCOME

If you have Catarrhal Deafness or head and ear noises or are growing hard of hearing go to your druggist and get 1 ounce of Parmint (double strength), and add to it ½-pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar. Take 1 tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucus stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Anyone who has catarrhal deafness or head noises should give this prescription a trial.

M.P.'s Decry Aggression

Premier King States Only Parliament Can Decide On Possible Canadian Action

By C. R. BLACKBURN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA — Prime Minister King stands by his policy that Parliament must decide any action Canada may take against aggressor nations, but he has no doubt what that decision would be if Britain were attacked.

He voiced in the Commons yesterday afternoon a more than usually frank condemnation of German aggression in Europe.

No consultation had as yet been sought by the United Kingdom government on the issues presented by Chancellor Hitler's latest conquest of the remaining portion of the Czechoslovak republic, the Prime Minister said.

Hon. R. J. Manion, Conservative leader, spoke even more forcefully than the Prime Minister, describing Hitler as "a madman—mad with lust for conquest and world domination." He urged that Canada and all peace-loving democracies present a firm front and announce to all the world their solid stand against aggressors.

Dr. Manion declared that after last week's developments in Europe "the personal liberties and parliamentary institutions are at stake. In a sense it is democracy and Christianity against totalitarianism.

"I say this attack of Hitler's on Czechoslovakia was unprovoked, unlawful and brutal. We ask ourselves what we must expect from this madman.

"I am not talking war, but it seems to me the only way we can stop war is to show there is a solid front among all democratic, civilized, Christian peoples of the world against the attempts of this man to dominate the world. If we all do that there will probably be no war."

BAN ON SUPPLIES

A plea for prohibition of exports of war materials to Germany and Japan and all aggressor nations was made by J. S. Woodsworth, leader of the C.C.F., and John H. Blackmore, Social Credit leader, urged unity within Canada, within the Empire and throughout the world.

Mr. Woodsworth declared his belief there was "sufficient vitality in the League of Nations, if we rally round it," to do something before it was too late. He urged every effort to establish close co-operation with the United States.

Besides a prohibtion of the export of war materials to all aggressor nations Mr. Woodsworth proposed the application of a super tax on goods entering Canada from Germany or any other aggressor nation. He also thought Canada should do something to care for refugees from the countries involved in German conquest.

M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F., Rosetown-Biggar, Sask., asked if the government would consider proposing a meeting of the League of Nations assembly with a view to formulating a joint policy for peace and with a view to seeking co-operation with the United States for such a policy.

The question was not answered.

EMPIRE NAVAL POSTS URGED

LONDON (CP)—Consultation with the Dominions toward strengthening naval outposts of the Empire was urged by Rt. Hon. A. V. Alexander, former First Lord of the Admiralty, during debate on the report stage of the naval estimates in the House of Commons yesterday. Mr. Alexander believed it would be a wise precaution to try to arrange for docking facilities in Australia for large types of naval vessels.

"It might be worth while approaching South Africa with regard to Durban and Capetown for the same purpose," he continued. "You might want to dock at other places than Singapore."

"Canada has taken over three or four large-type destroyers but it would be happier if Canada could see her way to be a little nearer to what Australia has done."

Cosmic Ray at New York Fair

NEW YORK (AP)—A cosmic ray snatched from interstellar space will be used to illuminate the New York Wold's Fair on its opening night, April 30.

The last of a series of 10 flashes atop the trylon will have a brilliant ce equal to 1,000,000 100-watt lamps and be visible for 20 miles.

Synchonrized with the flashes, a bell tone from a six-foot piano wire will ring out 10 times. The sounds, magnified to correspond to the clamor of a bell 30 feet in diameter, will be audible for 20 miles, fair officials say.

Dr. Albert Einstein, exiled scholar from Germany, will open the cosmic ray demonstration with an address broadcast around the world.

Scientists from the Hayden Planetarium here and the Franklin Institute of Philadelphia have undertaken to get the cosmic ray to the fair grounds in time for the ceremony.

MONEY AVAILABLE FOR WATERWORKS

NANAIMO (CP) — Nanaimo city council last night heard from Ottawa that $50,000 was available for its waterworks construction project obtained under the Dominion municipal improvements loan scheme. The sum is one-fifth of the total loan.

The council decided to leave the sum in Ottawa at the pleasure of the council and instructed the mayor and engineer or city clerk to draw up and sign contracts for necessary pipe for the project.

Forty-five applications were received for three vacancies on the fire department. They were referred to the fire wardens and fire chief for recommendation.

Letter from the trade extension bureau of the British Columbia Lumber and Shinglemen's Association, Vancouver, pointed out the inconsistency of Nanaimo City protesting against raw log export from B.C. and then considering the granting of application for construction of a stucco tourist camp in the city.

The aldermen made it plain the city was not in the tourist camp business, that the application was by Zita Harrison, and further that she proposed to build her camp outside the city. On top of this Alderman J. G. Hindmarch pointed out Vancouver Island boasted a cement factory that used Nanaimo coal. The letter was filed.

Members of the city staff renewed their application for restoration of pay cuts. The matter is under consideration by the finance committee.

RACE CRY CAUSES UPROAR IN HOUSE

Conservative Leader Drew Denies 'Defeated' Slur On French-Canadians

TORONTO (CP)—An echo of the December, 1936, Hastings East provincial by-election campaign sounded in the Ontario Legislature today and caused the angriest scene yet in the week-old session.

J. A. Habel (Liberal, Cochrane North), speaking in the throne speech debate, in which the Conservatives have refused further participation, accused Col. George Drew, now Conservative leader, but then Conservative organizer, of uttering in the Hastings East campaign "a terrible remark."

MR. HABEL'S CHARGE

"He said, and I know he'll deny it, that it was not unfair to remind the French they were a defeated race in Canada and that their rights were rights by tolerance," was the charge Mr. Habel threw at Col. Drew, who was not in the House at the time but in his adjoining office.

The remark set off an uproar with Col. Drew, hastily summoned, Premier Hepburn, Leopold Macaulay (Conservative, York South) and Mr. Habel participating in the crossfire that brought a chain of Speaker's rulings and retractions.

"We may have been conquered one day," said Mr. Habel, "but since we have shown our loyalty to the British Crown. As far as this country is concerned, we are in it and going to stay. If God gave one race the force and power to be the dominant race, let them be it. But even if we are a minority, we are living for one country."

As long as one French-Canadian remained in Canada, Col. Drew's statement would not be forgotten. It was too crude.

"Are you aware he denies making it?" asked Mr. Macaulay.

"I am aware he is not in his seat," said Mr. Habel.

"Don't repeat that slander," said Mr. Macaulay. "Get some more garbage without it."

Premier Hepburn protested to the speaker and the "garbage remark was ordered withdrawn.

"There is nothing unparliamentary about the word garbage," said Mr. Macaulay. "Get me a dictionary."

"It isn't parliamentary," said the Premier.

"Sure it is. I meant political garbage. I said the word garbage in the sense that garbage is something to be disposed of. Bring me that dictionary. Certainly the charge is brought here in bad faith and bad taste."

"He told the member to go in with more of his garbage," said Premier Hepburn.

Speaker Clark ruled the term unparliamentary and ordered its withdrawal.

"I didn't consider it so," said Mr. Macaulay. "I think the honorable member is very unparliamentary."

THREE AFFIDAVITS

Premier Hepburn said he spoke in Plainfield, where the statement is alleged to have been made, the night after Colonel Drew and there 11 persons testified to having heard Colonel Drew make the statement and three affidavits were produced.

"In my opinion, he did say it."

"Now the Premier has something to withdraw," said Mr. Macaulay. "How many of those 11 were Government employees?"

Here Colonel Drew took his seat and immediately rose to a point of order.

Mr. Habel declared Col. Drew couldn't rise to point of order arising from something that happened when he wasn't in the House. The Speaker sustained Col. Drew's privilege.

Col. Drew hoped the Legislature was not to be disgraced by a repetition of a statement he had already denied and "which as a member of this House I now deny." It was a contemptible misrepresentation of what he had said "about a race for which I have done as much as any member of this House, including even the members of that race."

"The statement was never made and I have denied it. The Premier is the one in this House who knows best of all the statement was never made."

"The statement was made in Plainfield village and naturally it created a furore," said Premier Hepburn.

"Does the Premier accept my word?" demanded Col. Drew.

"Possess your soul in patience. I'll accept his word. I have to accept it under the rules of Parliament."

The Premier said he had spoken with a Toronto reporter after the Plainfield meeting and the reporter was certain he had reported Col. Drew correctly.

MUST ACCEPT HIS WORD

"Of course under the rules of this House I'm obliged to accept his word but I relate the circumstances with which I'm very familiar," said Mr. Hepburn.

Feeling and prejudice had been aroused exactly as the Premier desired, said Col. Drew. The incident was far from closed. The Premier was giving additional information in support of a charge already branded as false. The affidavits were from three minors, all children of men shortly before on the government payrolls.

"I had nothing to do with the affidavits," said the Premier.

"You read them. Your organizer prepared them."

"Certainly I read them. They were handed to me."

On the Speaker's ruling, the House accepted Colonel Drew's assurance he had not used the words.

Restaurant Bar

VANCOUVER (CP)—A city council regulation, prohibiting employment of white girls in Chinese cafes, will continue.

Several waitresses, formerly employed in the Chinatown restaurants, requested the city to cancel the regulation, but council made its decision yesterday after Chief Constable W. W. Foster had said he could see no reason why the restriction should be lifted.

"In view of the conditions under which the girls are expected to work it is almost impossible for them to be so employed without falling victims to some form of immoral life," the chief reported.

TORONTO (CP) — Dancer Romana Rakoff was convicted in police court here yesterday of committing an indecent act—performing slightly underdressed at a big stage party—and was fined $15 and costs, with the option of 10 days in jail.

Evidence heard last week was that Miss Rakoff had performed at a party in a waterfront auditorium attended by 500 men. Police raided the party.

Their Excellencies

LORD AND LADY TWEEDSMUIR MAY be assured that if they enjoy their visits to Victoria as much as Victorians enjoy having them in their midst the holiday they are to spend here will be a pleasant one indeed. And perhaps the Governor-General and his charming consort will not cavil if we British Columbians have the idea that Their Excellencies reserve a particularly soft spot in their hearts for this part of the Dominion. Nobody will blame them if that be the case.

It is not inappropriate just now to bear in mind the fine service which the present incumbent of Rideau Hall is rendering to the British family as a whole as His Majesty's representative in Canada. On numerous occasions since he assumed his important office its exacting duties have included several noteworthy public appearances which have demanded the traditional verbal pleasantries. But for a realist of Lord Tweedsmuir's experience and knowledge of the world and its ways the circumspection with which he must of necessity clothe his observations may at times be difficult to command. How rigorously he has kept to the correct word, in "crisis times" and in more or less normal days, has, of course, gone down on the record.

On those occasions, however, when His Excellency has been in a position to speak without restraint, to give vent to some of his innermost feelings and subject the complexities of our time to a searching analysis, words of wisdom and farsightedness have come from the lips of John Buchan—the litterateur and classicist. For the man who came to Canada with the credentials from his King nearly four years ago already had carved an enviable niche for himself in the hall of literary fame. We may thus conclude that in this vast land of new adventure he has combined the flawless discharge of a by no means easy task with the enjoyment of rare experiences.

Memel Next?

AFTER SEVERAL MONTHS OF INTENsive application of the Nazi technique in German-populated Lithuania—carried out by Hitlerian agent Dr. Ernst Neumann—the stage has been prepared for the return of the Memel area to the Reich. The Herr Doktor has explained that the continued association of Lithuania and Memel is "economically and culturally impossible."

The significance of this tiny strip of territory adjoining and lying directly north of East Prussia must not be underestimated, for not only has its racial "problem" been used by the Nazi chief and his adherents as an excuse for further aggression, but also because it will draw fresh attention to the Polish Corridor and the free city of Danzig. Both Memel and Danzig already are virtually "influenced" by Berlin. Pomorze (part of the Polish Corridor), also comes to the fore as a possible early acquisition of the Greater German Reich. There are 175,000 Teutons in Pomorze and 345,000 in the district of Poznan. Germany never has given up its claim to this corridor, which separates Germany from East Prussia, Danzig and Memel. (The Polish Corridor was incorporated in Poland by post-war treaties.)

It should be remembered, incidentally, that at the general elections for the Memel Diet—tentatively called to meet next Saturday—more than two months ago Nazi candidates captured nearly all the seats. They therefore have matters very much their own way. But it was the original intention to postpone the convening of the Landtag (Parliament) until the Nazi holiday on May 1. The march of events, however, has altered the plan, and whether the proposed demonstration in favor of a plebiscite for or against the return of Memel to Germany will now be proceeded with likewise will be determined from Berlin. A vote under the Nazi formula, of course, would be a farce in any circumstances.

In the meantime Lithuanian officials appear to be moving their families out of this little Baltic district of Memel. They have seen the operation of the Nazi technique, which has resembled that employed by Sudetenland's Henlein in Czechoslovakia, and are not in the mood to be caught unawares.

Slightly Out of Order

FROM COUNTY DERRY COMES NEWS of a scheme for the abolition of partition in Ireland—meaning the amalgamation of Ulster with the former Irish Free State, now operating under the new constitution as Eire. But the plan, instead of having its origin in the Emerald Isle, is being engineered in the United States. Its sponsors hope to get 2,000,000 signatures and to have them ready for presentation to Mr. de Valera when he visits the neighboring republic in May. Copies of the signatures are then to be forwarded to President Roosevelt and to Prime Minister Chamberlain, with a demand for action, whatever that may mean.

It is one thing to talk about the unification of Ireland but another thing to bring it within the realm of practical politics. To us so far removed from the scene, although still remembering the jubilation which marked the signing of the Treaty of 1921 which set up the Free State, the day would seem to be far distant when the Orangemen of Northern Ireland will extend the program of their Twelfth of July celebrations to include resolutions favoring the abandonment of partition and the inclusion of Ulster within the four corners of the "republican" constitution.

But while the "Six Counties" and the former Irish Free State furnish another example of the immovable object and the irresistible force, we wonder what brand of optimism is encouraging the sponsors of Irish unity in the United States. They would appear to have a curious conception of the impression their petition might have upon Mr. Chamberlain and Mr. Roosevelt. These gentlemen have a good deal of other partition business on their hands at the moment.

That Lost Province

POINTING AT THE WEST COAST OF Sweden is another country which for some time has been brought into the orbit of Reichsfuehrer Hitler's dream of continental European political and territorial conquest. That country is Denmark, against which the Germans have nursed a 20-year-old score that the Nazi despot would naturally like to pay off, and may try to do so at a later date unless last week's events produce a definite policy for a showdown.

It will be remembered, of course, that the Danes did not throw in their lot with the Allies in the Great War; nevertheless they were given a slice of territory at Germany's expense. Under the provisions of the Treaty of Versailles the German province of Schleswig was divided into two zones for the purposes of a plebiscite. The southern zone voted to remain part of Germany, the northern zone, by 75,000 votes to 25,000, joined the Danes. The territory had been taken from Denmark by the Germans in 1864.

Some significance may be read into recent events in Denmark. Much has been made, for example, of the discovery of a supposed German spy plot, while the Nazis also have been making formal protests to Denmark when the Danish newspapers publish matter derogatory to Herr Hitler. The small German minority in Denmark, moreover, is well organized and controlled from the Reich. As Germany is, next to Great Britain, Denmark's most valuable customer—and the sole customer for her cattle—the Nazis have it in their power to bring economic pressure to bear on the Danes. So it would be unwise to think that Herr Hitler's vaulting ambition would not extend to the recovery of the lost province if he considered "the ground" properly prepared.

Public Enemy Turns Useful

FROM CALIFORNIA COMES NEWS OF a discovery that commands attention because it has taken a long-time enemy and made a useful citizen of him in an extremely short time. The citizen, once a scourge of marine life and now a producer in his own right, is the shark. Sharks consume hundreds of pounds of the more desirable fish during their lives yet are not particularly delectable themselves. Until recently they have been useful chiefly for fertilizer.

However, more than 100 tons of sharks are now sold every day in San Francisco for the production of shark liver oil, which has a high content of vitamin A, valuable in the poultry industry. Fishermen receive from $20 to $40 a ton for the sharks, depending upon the variety and size of the fish. Least valuable is the small dog variety. Special licenses are issued for the shark fisherman and the new industry is booming.

Now that the shark has become a useful citizen with the aid and assistance of science, the scientist's next task is to study the habits and the way of life to insure the newcomer against extinction.

And that seems to be one more European war scare we have got over.

Spring officially began this morning, the calendar confirming the weather.

The system of the child psychologist, Dr. William E. Blatz, who attends them, for identifying the individual Dionne Darlings: "Yvonne can be identified because she is the largest; Marie the smallest; then Annette may be picked out because she is very much like Yvonne, and THEN if you can pick out Cecile, the last one must be Emilie. At present when you meet one of them separated from the others the child herself will correct you if you make a mistake."

NO WAR

From Ottawa Journal

We are told now that Hitler is on his way to Roumania's oil fields, to the Ukraine's wheat. That, Roumania and the Ukraine under his heel, he will turn to the west, overrun France, point a gun at England's heart from the channel ports.

It is frantic, fantastic talk. It may be that Hitler will go on to Roumania; it may be even that he will attack the Ukraine. But does anybody suppose that, having done these things, the last bringing him into conflict with Russia, he would remain powerful enough to turn around and attack the democracies—face the combined might of England, France and the United States? Madman that Hitler seems to be, he can't be as mad as that. Can't be mad enough to invite the extirpation of Germany from the face of the earth.

England may not feel disposed, and understandably, to spill her blood and treasure for a conglomeration of races in southeastern or southwestern Europe. But let Hitler turn to the west, attack France, and England would stand like a block of steel in his path; and so, we must believe, would the United States.

The Journal still holds to its faith, that there will be no war this year; and that, the shocking events of this week notwithstanding, there is no prospect of war with Germany in the near future. This faith is not based in belief that Hitler can be appeased; it is based in conviction that Hitler can be overawed—in the conviction that the democratic states, growing more mighty in armaments each day, can never be attacked.

ENGLISH SPRING

SPRING MAY VISIT other places, as a kind of professional duty, but she belongs to England. There she is truly at home. There she settles down and enjoys herself for a leisurely three months and until you have seen her at home, among her children, snug in the immemorial customs of the English countryside, you have never really known spring at all.

She will be settling down for a spell right now on the South Coast, in a summer boarding house, perhaps, by a smoky coal fire in a tiny grate, and in a room littered with absurd blue china and sea shells and pictures of dead pheasants, within sight of the blue Cornish sea and within sound of another primeval force, the English plumbing.

On the South Coast now the daffodils will be out and, in Cornwall, all kinds of tropical plants beside the tiny inlets of the sea where the rusty old freighters poke their noses into your back garden. The first tourists—they call them visitors—will be slithering down into old Clovelley on the cobble stones, or riding on the aged donkeys, and nearby Miss Richards, almost as old as the ruins themselves, will loan you a key to King Arthur's Castle on its black cliffs, for sixpence.

Yes, and the red Devon earth will be turned over now in shiny, sleek furrows, with hedges curved over the round hillsides like hoops on a barrel. Ploughed, too, is the brown soil of the Cotswolds, where the little towns of golden stone lie folded away between the hills, only a lean spire peaking up to reveal them to the traveler.

In Shakespeare's country it is unutterably green now, with a green in the fields such as we never know here, and the violets are sweet in Anne Hathaway's cottage and the ancient willows are budding out beside the lazy Avon, and up at Kenilworth the wallflowers will be blooming soon in the crevices of the ruined walls.

Wales still waits for spring to come and hastens its preparations for her. On a windfarmer as he hacks away with a Welsh farmer a she hacks away at his hawthorn hedge, weaving the prickled branches together, as his people have done for a thousand years, before spring's arrival. In the lush valley of the Wye they await her, too, and the farmer, noting that you are from America, says he will build you a roaring American fire, and lays three wet kindling sticks of new-cut maple on top of a few hunks of coal and produces a wondrous smoke, but no heat, and then opens the window to let you cool off.

HARDY RACE

IN THE COUNTRY INNS they try to make themselves believe that spring has come already. They open the doors and windows most of the day and at night the vast four-poster beds feel like frozen ponds. But the British are a hardy race. They get out and greet spring half way.

All over the West Country now the young folks will be touring on bicycles at the week-end, with pinker cheeks than we have and happier faces. And at Burton-on-the Waters, where a little river runs down the main street, an old man in a tattered army coat will be strolling along, full of beer and song, singing, "We will jine out love together on the banks of the Tweed." It is his spring song. I hope it is not yet stilled.

In the lake district it is almost winter still, with a dash of snow on the hills and the shepherd's cottage at Dungeon Gyll is freezing, with its tiny fire of damp sticks, its mattress of straw, its furniture out of Wordsworth's time, its faded photographs of the boys who went to the war.

The wild, ragged Scottish gypsies are out in the Highlands already, weeks ahead of spring, camping in tents made of old sheets, pushing their belongings in broken perambulators, playing their bagpipes by the road in the Trossachs, hoping you will stop with a shilling.

Everywhere the little island stirs and bustles with a feeling which was old when William came. We are new in this country, haven't really learned to know our land yet, or our seasons. In England they know them, and feel them. Even in London spring creeps into a thousand tiny gardens lost among the black chimney pots, and daffodils bloom and trees bud in the Inner Temple, unseen from the thundering streets a few yards away.

HONORED GUEST

THEY KNOW SPRING, and love her. We take her as a matter of course. They prepare for her as for an honored guest, as if a beloved relative—perhaps with a bit of property to leave the family later on—had come to visit.

The whole island is ploughed up, every foot of garden dug, every rose bush pruned, every hedge tidied, every front door painted, every stone threshold scrubbed. The honored guest is arriving and everyone looks for her—over the fields, among the oak trees and in the parks and lost garden squares of London.

You can tell she is coming. Over the whole island hangs a kind of warm, misty perfume, a feeling quite unutterable and the despair of every English poet—a sensation of the body and the mind to which no one has been able to give a name, a feeling compounded of growth and verdure and perfume, and of the teeming life of England, the life of a people who know their land and how to live on it. Centuries of growth and building and learning will pass before we know anything like it.

DUSK AT SANTA MONICA; THE END FOR MR. HEARST

From Time

One of the many little-known facts about William Randolph Hearst's fantastically tangled affairs is that his rival Los Angeles publisher, Harry Chandler of the Times, holds a mortgage on San Simeon. Last month in Los Angeles, rather than embarrass his strapped debtor, Mr. Chandler agreed to extend the mortgage. But it was not Mr. Hearst who made the request. Mr. Hearst was not in Los Angeles or San Simeon.

Last fortnight, in Chicago, Joseph Vincent Connolly, general manager of all Hearst papers, and half a dozen other bigwigs were frantically trying to do something about the gasping Herald and Examiner, struck by the Newspaper Guild and thinned by advertisers. The Herex is a favorite paper of Mr. Hearst's. But Mr. Hearst was not in Chicago

Last week, in Manhattan, the directors of Hearst Consolidated Publications Inc. faced their gravest crisis since the company was formed in 1930. Hearst Consolidated (which controls 13 of the 20 Hearst papers, plus the American Weekly) had passed three consecutive quarterly dividends on its 7 per cent class A (preferred) stock. If it passed the fourth, due March 15, control of the most valuable Hearst newspaper properties could go out of the hands of Hearstmen and into the hands of some 50,000 small stockholders, who put up $50,000,000 for what Hearst assured them nine years ago was an "ultra-conservative investment." With dividends $2,625,000 in arrears and $875,000 due this time, and with a committee representing 30,000 shares waiting to pounce on the company, the directors needed somebody to tell them what to do. Mr. Hearst is president of Hearst Consolidated. But Mr. Hearst was not in Manhattan.

Mr. Hearst was with Marion Davies at her Santa Monica Beach house. The Hearst who mortgaged San Simeon to get $600,000 for spending money has for the past two years been employed as editorial director of his own newspapers, and last year his salary from the Hearst Consolidated was cut from $500,000 to $100,000. No longer ruler of the empire he built, Hearst has only two desires concerning it: (1) To have some of it survive him; (2) to keep his job. Nearing 76, the man who was the most spectacular publisher and spendthrift of his time wants to die a newspaperman.

APPEASEMENT DREAM

From B.C. Financial News

The "appeasement" of Munich is disclosed as a futile dream. Adolf Hitler's assurance to the world that, with the taking of the Sudetenland, Germany's territorial ambitions in Europe would be satisfied and an era of peace could be expected is to be seen as the utterance of a deceitful and conscienceless plunderer. The warning of Eden, Churchill and Lloyd George against any policy that would presume decency and honor upon the part of the dictators are re-echoed from the sounding board of actual events.

When Czechoslovakian independence was conceded, one European democracy was lost and the remainder gained some respite from immediate crisis—time to arm. But now it must be realized that Germany has checkmated all or most of this advantage by its ruthless acquisition of all the arms, munition plants, airplanes and militarized manpower of Czechoslovakia, together with liquid resources to stave off financial crisis for at least another six months. And the resistance to Hitler's drive into eastern Europe is immeasurably weakened, both as to physical power to resist and the will to do so.

CENTENARIAN STURGEON

From Quebec Chronicle-Telegraph

Examination of the earrings of a 767-pound sturgeon captured not very long ago in British Columbia's Fraser River proclaimed the fact that the big fish had seen a century come and go, according to an official report. A fish with earrings? Of course. Not exterior adornments, but concentric rings on the otolith or earbone or, as some put it, the earstone.

AMBROSIA!

Botanical name for the common ragweed is ambrosia artemisifolia. It sounds like a bit of camouflage.

RAILWAY EXTRAVAGANCES

To the Editor:—Mr. W. N. Neal, vice-president of Canadian Pacific western lines, in a recent speech at Vancouver, listed five major Pacific Coast railway extravagances. He left out the major railway extravagance and possibly the world's greatest and most expensive railway blunder; a blunder so obvious and so understandable that only a person with a very partizan outlook could possibly ignore it. The five reasons given by Mr. Neil are mere trivialities compared to this sixth. I mean, of course, the Kicking Horse Rogers Pass route.

Prior to the construction of the first transcontinental line the Dominion Government spent some $5,000,000 on surveys under the supervision of Mr. Sandford Fleming. The surveys were well done and the route was mapped through the Yellowhead Pass. The government laid down specifications limiting the extreme grades to 90 feet to the mile. Then stepped into the picture an American telegrapher who had never built a mile of line through virgin mountainous territory and had not the vaguest notion of what it was all about. He was placed in charge of construction, and his first action was to scrap Fleming's plans and disregard the advice of anyone who knew the country or had any idea of railroad construction. Because it was 127 miles shorter to the coast he pushed the line through the desert lands of the Palliser triangle and over the Kicking Horse Pass. There he stopped, not knowing how to proceed further.

Van Horne then wired frantically to Fleming, who was in England at the time, and that gentleman, forgetting the indignities he had suffered at the supplicant's hands, hurried back to Canada and led the first exploration party through the Rogers Pass. Van Horne completed the line to Savona's Ferry, but to do so he had to cross three grades of 116 feet to the mile, which made economic railroading impossible, and for years British Columbia has paid the enormous transportation bill which these excessive grades have created. In a word, the stupidity of those who built the first trans-Canada railroad has cost this province millions of dollars in extra transportation costs.

The Fleming survey, through the Yellowhead, lay on the shelf collecting dust till enterprising men built a new line over the easy grades of that pass and made it possible for B.C. to cut down its transportation bill. While the great over-sized shunting engines of the C.P.R. creep over the Selkirks pushing a small string of freights laboriously over the heavy grades, the standard locomotive of the C.N.R. can breeze through the Yellowhead on standard rails with a great string of cars rumbling behind it, and assure B.C. of something like an even break in its transportation costs. Although the Yellowhead route presents the easiest trans-mountain railway grade from Mexico to Alaska which is used by any transcontinental railway, still the people of British Columbia suffer from the ill effects of a mountain differential which is found nowhere else on the continent. This differential is necessary only by reason of the fact that the privately-operated transcontinental line was built in such an uneconomic manner that it could not operate on a reasonable economic rate, and so the people of B.C. must pay the piper.

Dunning May Cut Taxes As Business Stimulant

Finance Minister Ponders Budget Problem; Reductions Last Year Brought More Revenue

By NORMAN MacLEOD

OTTAWA — These days the fate of the Canadian taxpayer is hanging in the balance. Another budget is on the horizon. Behind closed doors of his shabbily-quaint office, the Finance Minister is trying to decide whether the national financial situation will enable him to bind up some of the wounds of the Dominion's tax-ridden citizenship, or whether it will be necessary to make them bleed afresh.

If Hon. Charles Dunning is guided only by the balance sheet figures of the year just ended, there will be no remission of taxation. The national treasury needs not only all the funds provided by existing levies, but more. That is the realistic, orthodox position.

Against this attitude, however, national experience has proven that excessive taxation and prosperity do not go hand in hand. No one in parliamentary circles recognizes this fact more clearly than Mr. Dunning. Some observers, consequently, see the outside possibility of the Finance Minister sponsoring a patriotically daring experiment in moderately reduced taxation with a view to stimulating business recovery. The gamble in such a course would be that increased prosperity would make up ultimately the revenues that would be sacrificed under the taxation levies that were reduced.

CUTS PROVED PRODUCTIVE

In federal circles substantial grounds are recognized for carrying out such an experiment. For the fact that lowered taxation stimulates business recovery has been demonstrated in federal policy in recent years both in connection with the staple industries and also the so-called luxury industries of the Dominion.

Last year, for example, the sales tax was removed from major commodities used in the building trades. The result has been, in consequence, a stimulus to building operations throughout the nation greater than that afforded by any of the other more spectacular policies that have been dedicated to this objective. Literally thousands of workers in the construction and allied industries of Canada have owed their employment during the past year to the simple fact that federal taxation in their several fields was rendered less onerous and building operations more attractive to private capital as a consequence.

LIQUOR AND TOBACCO

In the case of the so-called luxury industries the direct effect which can be obtained by lowering taxation has been demonstrated even more impressively. The tobacco and the distilling industries afford notable cases in point.

In the case of the cigarette industry, the government reduced the excise tax on cigarettes back in 1932 from $6 to $4 per thousand. In the very next year cigarette production in the Dominion increased from 3,728,832,089 to 4,342,723,895. Since then the increase has been progressive until last year the production was 6,848,693,442.

But from the standpoint of the Finance Minister, the most important feature of this drastic reduction of a major federal levy by 33⅓ per cent has been the fact that an increased income for the national treasury has resulted. When the tax was $6 per thousand the national exchequer collected only $19,997,729. Last year it collected $27,397,166.

GROWERS BENEFIT

The effect of the taxation reduction, however, is regarded on Parliament Hill as not having been even mainly the greater federal revenue which has resulted. More important has been the benefits it has brought to the workers in the tobacco industry and to the agriculturists of Ontario and Quebec who grow tobacco. To the latter it has meant an immeasurably wider market for their product. To the workers, on the other hand, it has meant increased employment and a more prosperous condition in the industry, from which they derived benefits in the form of regular pay envelopes and vastly improved working conditions.

The distilling industry within the last decade has illustrated the same truth in respect to taxation policy where luxuries are concerned. Back in 1926 distilled liquors were taxed $9 per imperial proof gallon. The production for domestic consumption was 1,082,785 gallons. The revenue to the federal treasury was $9,782,784. In 1932 the tax was reduced to $7 a gallon. During that year the industry had plumbed the depths of the depression and the last 12-month period under the $9 gallonage tax registered a production of only 769,527 gallons and a revenue to the government of only $6,320,345. In the year following the change, however, production jumped to 938,947 gallons and the government's revenue was $6,331,031.

EMPLOYMENT STIMULATED

In order words, in the year following the $2 reduction in the tax, the government's revenue was actually increased slightly, while production in the industry increased by more than 20 per cent, with a consequent benefit to the workers in the industry and to the farmers, to whom industry gives an important market for their grain.

In 1935, however, the gallonage tax was cut again from $7 to $4. In the last year before this $3 cut became effective production in the industry stood at 1,900,713 gallons and revenue to the government at $7,591,194. In the first year of the new rate of taxation production increased to 2,277,702 gallons and the government received a revenue of $9,110,455.

The employment figures in the beverage industry have responded notably to the taxation changes made in it. In 1933 the Department of Labor index stood at 115.9. In 1936 it stood at 143.7. And in December of last year it reached 168.9.

ANSWER AWAITED

In brief, the reaction in federal circles to such taxation changes as have been made in respect to the luxury industries of the Dominion—leaving them, however, still the most heavily-burdened phase of the country's economy—is that no other taxation policy has ever yielded greater national dividend of increased employment for the workers of the country and of increased benefits for the agriculturists who furnish the raw materials of these industries.

Experience which has been encountered in connection with the luxury industries is regarded as having been confirmed for the more staple industries by the results of last year's experiment in removing the sales tax from commodities used in building trades.

The question is: Will Mr. Dunning, in his forthcoming budget, proceed along the course which these experiments suggest?

Parliament Hill is waiting with a consuming interest as unquestionably is the nation—to learn the answer to this query.

Chamber Sponsors Annual Campaign

Will Urge Citizens To Paint-up, Clean-up Next Week

The Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce will swing into its annual campaign at the end of the month to give Victoria's downtown and residential districts a spick-and-span early spring appearance, George Beck, chairman of the committee handling the undertaking, announced at last night's general meeting of the organization.

Held annually for many years and known as clean-up and paint-up week, the campaign will be held this spring from March 27 to April 1. The chamber committee will endeavor to encourage all citizens to aid in this move for a brighter and cleaner-looking city.

Alex Hall, in a report to the meeting, said that the chamber's plan to have High School students gaining the highest scholastic ratings at the end of the present term take over important civic positions for a day, had been turned down. He noted that H. L. Smith, principal of the Victoria High School, and George H. Deane, B.C. inspector of schools, had claimed it was not in the best interests of the students.

During the evening a short moving picture reel was run off in the meeting room depicting the ceremony that was staged in connection with the inauguration of the Trans-Canada airmail service here on March 1. It was shown by Al "Nels" Goodwin.

The meeting decided to get an expression of opinion from the Canadian Chamber of Commerce on the matter of having the government issue a combination 16-cent airmail and special delivery stamp.

It was reported the annual convention of the B.C. Junior Chambers of Commerce had been set for May 26, 27 and 28 in Nelson. The chamber, however, will write and request later dates as the present dates would conflict with the Royal Visit and make it almost impossible for Victoria to have representatives present.

The next meeting of the organization will be held, April 3. It will be a luncheon meeting.

Maybe it's the Spring air you're breathing . . . maybe it's the ease of the steering post shift* . . . or the utter smoothness of the Fourth Speed Forward* . . . or the fact that Nash is built for the gypsy-life, with a bed in it . . .

. . . but suddenly you see ahead of you, blue skies and fleecy clouds . . . trout streams white with foam . . . a sun-drenched beach down south . . .

. . . you're saying "good-bye" to winter. From now on, it will always be fair weather for you, in your Nash!

Shrine Circus Opens April 24

Eight Performance Will Be Given at Horse Show Building; New Features

The Gizeh Shrine Temple Band will hold its fifth annual indoor circus in the Horse Show Building at the Willows for the week of April 24 to 29. There will be six night and two matinee performances.

Arrangements have been closed with Polack Bros. Circus to bring their 1939 array of circus talent to Victoria for their fifth annual appearance here for the Shrine Band, with new faces, new acts, new sensations. This year Polacks has in its line-up the largest and most diversified group of talent that it has ever presented indoors. The same circus performance will be presented here that will be seen in Portland and Seattle prior to coming to Victoria.

Circus committees that will handle the details of the circus have been appointed as follows: Fred Butterfield, general chairman; W. H. Handley, ticket chairman; Harry Davis, hall chairman, and P. B. Schmeelk, advertising chairman. Advance circus headquarters have been opened at 743 View Street.

Duke Mills, the advance representative of the Polack Bros., is here and will remain until the conclusion of the engagement.

This year's Shrine Circus will present some of the most thrilling acts in the circus business, including such internationally-known features as the Billeti troupe of high-wire artists, who perform high above the audience without the aid of a safety net, and climax their hazardous routine by crossing the wire shoulder to shoulder, three humans high. Then there will be the idols of circus fans of two continents, Poodles Hanneford Family, Australian equestions; Capt. Snyder and his performing bears; "Mona," the youngest performing elephant; Six English Macks, whirlwind teeter-board experts, and many other features.

Festival Poster Winners Chosen

High honors in the Musical Festival poster competition have gone to pupils of Victoria High School, whose entries have won the first half dozen places.

There were again this year comparatively few entries, only about 50 having been received. They were strictly limited to a 24-inch by 14-inch area. Most of the posters had black and white backgrounds and the Musical Festival was featured, with portraits of famous composers, minstrels, choir boys and bandsmen.

Brentwood College this year entered the competition for the first time. Elementary schools were too busy preparing for Easter examinations to enter.

H. Simpson, commercial art instructor at the night school and connected with the display department of the Hudson's Bay Company acted as judge at the North Ward School at the week-end. He judged on general treatment of the subject of musical festival, originality, color, design, cleanliness, neatness and general effect.

Following were the winners:

First, Dora Caley, Division 26, Victoria High School; second, Thomas Eng, Division 29, Victoria High School; third, Dennis Crockett, Victoria High School; honorable mention, G. Blaney, Davie Leong and Dorothy Holt, also of Victoria High School.

Victoria lost the World's Series Professional Hockey title at Toronto when they dropped a 2 to 1 defeat at the hands of the Toronto team. Bobby Genge, Victoria player was badly injured in the game but is expected to recover. Genge is one of the greatest defence players in the game. Lester Patrick says that the series will never be a real test until the rules are changed to the seven-man style of play or the coast players cut their lists to six-man hockey.

Charlie Brooks, Victoria first sacker, was automatically suspended from the baseball league for not sending his signed contract to the local club before March 1. Brooks, a star ball player, says he will not sign up with the local club and is trying to get a job with the Federals.

A new record for March heat was experienced in Victoria today when the temperature soared to 68.1 degrees. It has not soared to this point since March 9, 1905 when an even 68 degrees was recorded.

Among the distinguished guests who will visit Victoria shortly are Martin Harvey, the actor, and Jean Gerardy, cellist.

FIRST CATHEDRAL TROOP

R. Wood, acting duty patrol leader, opened last week's meeting of the First Cathedral Scout Troop. After personal inspection, Morse code inspection was held. Following instruction periods in which R. Canova and J. Rathbone passed their Kim's game tests, a message relay was held outside the headquarters. The competition was won by Grouse and Pheasant Patrols. The Eagle Patrol was first in the patrol competition for that night. Pheasant Patrol was assigned to duty patrol for this week. The troop's monthly card party will be held this evening at the home of Mrs. R. M. Canova, 1050 Sutlej Street, at 8.

Queen's Ladies-in-Waiting For Canada Old Friends

By MOLLIE McGEE
Canadian Press Correspondent

LONDON — The Queen has chosen two ladies-in-waiting of about her own age from among her friends to accompany her to Canada. They are both women who have known her since the days when they went to children's parties, and both have children who play with the young royalties.

Well versed in all the little intricacies of Court life and accustomed to dealing with those unforeseen incidents that occasionally impede the smooth running of royal public appearances, these two members of the court circle will be a great help to any nervous escorting Canadian or his curtsey-shy wife.

Lady Nunburnholme, tall, stately, lovely to look at, has fair English coloring and large grey eyes. She is 35, and as the youngest daughter of Marquis of Bath, was Lady Mary Thynne before her marriage in 1927. Popular with Royal Family—at one time rumor went she was to marry the then Prince of Wales—she was one of the large retinue of bridesmaids at the Queen's wedding in Westminster Abbey and also an attendant when Princess Mary, now the Princess Royal, married Viscount Lascelles.

She has great poise of manner, is an excellent conversationalist, and among the best groomed women in London. It was partly due to her influence that the Queen changed her fashions in dress and chose Norman Hartnell as the designer for her Paris visit clothes.

When not on duty at Buckingham Palace Lady Nunburnholme is busy with a variety of interests. She is a member of the Northamptonshire County Council and the devoted mother of an 11-year-old son and two smaller daughters who are among the children on the list of those invited to nursery tea with Princess Elizabeth and Princess Margaret Rose.

WIDOW AMONG THEM

Lady Katharine Seymour is the same age as the Queen and a widow of a few months. She has three small children, one son and two daughters, also playmates of the Buckingham Palace children.

Youngest daughter of the Duke of Abercorn, she was appointed to the present royal household as lady-of-the-bedchamber on the same day as Lady Nunburnholme, March 1, 1937, when preparations for the coronation were under way, and the Queen asked the help of her close friends.

Lady Katharine worked with the Queen when she was the newly-married Duchess of York and became confidential secretary to Queen Mary so that she might become accustomed to all the detail of royal correspondence and the long list of Royal engagements. Lady Katharine was for some years lady-in-waiting to Queen Mary and her clear, round signature graced the majority of letters in answer to those sent to that seemingly tireless Royal Mother.

ROYAL NOTES WRITTEN

It was also due to her efforts that the Queen's personal secretary was allowed to use a typewriter. Previously it had been considered essential that all notes from royalty, even though written by ladies-in-waiting, should be by hand.

When the decision was made to admit a typewriter into the inner sanctums of the palaces, statements were given to the press with the explanation that the Queen preferred clearly written business notes to those that might be misread.

The duties of these ladies-in-waiting during the Canadian tour will in the majority of cases correspond to their title. They will wait—a step or two behind—while mayors make speeches to the King and Queen. One will always attend the Queen and on formal occasions such as large receptions or state dinners both will be present.

HAVE MANY DUTIES

They will look after all the details of engagements and it is their duty to find out as much as possible about the various Canadian celebrities invited to meet Their Majesties so the Queen can talk with more knowledge and place her guests at ease.

Into their hands fall all the dozens of requests and invitations to acknowledge and they write for the Queen all the notes such a visit as that to Canada makes essential.

The ladies-in-waiting will have their own sitting room on H.M.S. Repulse and at Rideau Hall in Ottawa, though it would not seem, judging from the itinerary planned, that they will have much time for relaxation. According to those who come in close contact with them, members of the Royal household work long hours at the business of being gracious and half the hard work is in never letting it show.

NORRINGTON—GORAL

At a quiet ceremony at St. Mark's Church, Boleskine Road, on Saturday evening, Rev. O. L. Jull united in marriage Miss Jean Dorothy Goral of Whitehorse, Yukon Territory, to Mr. Herbert James Norrington, younger son of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Norrington of 1320 Franklin Terrace, Victoria.

The bride, who wore a smart suit of navy blue with accessories to harmonize, was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Walter Goral of Vancouver and attended by Miss Ena Norrington.

After the service a reception for relatives and intimate friends was held at the home of the bridegroom's parents. The young couple will make their home in Whitehorse, where the bridegroom has been living for the last two years.

DOUGLAS—WILKIE

TRAIL, B.C. March 20 (CP)—A simple wedding ceremony was performed in St. Andrew's Church here yesterday when Margaret Gordon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ottway Wilkie of New Westminster, became the bride of William Henry Douglas, son of Mr. W. C. Douglas of Vancouver.

Rt. Rev. Walter Adams of Vernon, Bishop of Kootenay, officiated. Miss Eva Horwell and Thomas Amos of Trail were the only attendants. A reception was held in the home of Mr. aand Mrs. O. J. Wilson here after the ceremony.

Missionary Exhibit Proves Interesting

Under the management of St. Barnabas Senior and Girls's W.A. and the Coral League, a missionary exhibition was held recently in St. Barnabas' Hall, when many interesting exhibits from India, China, Egypt, Central Africa and Canadian Indians were shown.

After a few words of introduction by the rector, Canon N. E. Smith, Rev. S. J. Wickens opened the proceedings, explaining that the primary object of the exhibition was not only to arouse interest in missionary work, but to enable those already interested to pray with greater power, because with increased understanding.

A play entitled: "The New Nurse," was presented by the children of the Coral League under the direction of Miss Maud Roberts, which showed in an amusing way difficulties inherent in ministering to those of a different race, with strange customs and language. All taking part are heartily to be congratulated on their lively and excellent performance. A little group of Chinese children from the Good Hope Mission, also gave a delightful program of music, songs and recitations, which was much enjoyed.

Short speeches were made by Mrs. D. M. Duncan on India, Miss Rathbone on Egypt, Rev. C. Lee on China and Rev. Canon Stocken on the American Indian, which gave an insight into the habits and point of view of the people of whom they spoke.

Tea was served by the girls' W.A. The proceeds will be sent to the Zeballos fund.

Victorians in Concert At Cobble Hill

In the Cobble Hill hall on Friday evening an attractive program will be given by some of the best musical and dramatic talent of Victoria, in aid of the building fund of St. John's Church, Cobble Hill.

The program will include numbers by the talent Elizabethan Quartette, Miss Dorothy Parsons, Miss Phyllis Deaville, Mr. Dudley Wickett and Jack Townsend, with Mrs. Grace Deaville at the piano.

A three-act play, "I Beg Your Pardon, Jenkins," written by Margaret Sullivan and directed by Trevor Norman, will be presented by "The Bohemians" of Langford. A one-act character sketch written by Norman Trevor will also be given, and Gwen Cox will present some of her talent pupils in dance numbers.

Mrs. B. Deane-Freeman, a former resident of Cobble Hill, cooperated with the committee in securing the services of the Victoria artists.

Says Women Could Help 'Insane' World

Agnes Macphail, M.P.P., Suggests Woman Finance Minister

OTTAWA (CP) — Ignoring dictators like Hitler and Mussolini, "women, when they get mad enough, will go out on one mighty crusade to put order and common sense into this insane world," Agnes Macphail, U.F.O.-Labor member of Parliament for Grey-Bruce, told the Local Council of Women yesterday.

"Soon millions of mad women—and I love that word mad—will get roused, forget they are afraid, ignore their lack of confidence and knowledge and lose themselves in the vastness of the need before them," the woman M.P. said. "It will be surprising how much they will accomplish.

"If all the members' seats on Parliament Hill, in provincial houses and on municipal boards were filled by women they could not possibly have things in a worse mess than they are in now. I doubt if any women would want to be prime minister or finance minister but it would be wonderful to have a woman as finance minister for a while."

Dominion Drama Festival Draws Program

Nanaimo Players To Be Among Finalists in East

OTTAWA (CP)—The line-up plays invited to the finals of the seventh Dominion Drama Festival at London, Ont., the week of April 10, was announced here last night by John A. Aylen, honorary secretary-general of the festival.

The program, which begins that Monday night in London's old Grand Theatre, runs through to Saturday night. Last year's winners of the Bessborough Trophy the Beaux-Arts Society of Victoria, are not listed among the entries.

The program starts off with a tragic melodrama "Dark Orchard," by H. Campbell Duncan, presented by the Arts and Letters Club of Toronto.

Tuesday evening four short plays are to be presented—"Rehearsal," by the Winnipeg new theatre, "The Bear," Anton Chekhov's fantastic farce, by the Clive Dramatic Society, Clive, Alta., "The Valiant," by the Kingston drama group, and "It's Autumn Now," Phillip Johnson's, by the Charlottetown Little Theatre Guild.

The Wednesday matinee sees two French plays—"Martine," by Jean-Jacques Bernard, depicted by Le Caveau, Ottawa, and "Les Trois Masques," produced by Le Cercle Moliere, Edmonton.

Another full-length play is scheduled for Wednesday evening, "Love From a Stranger," adapted from Agatha Christie's novel, played by the Halifax Theatre Arts Guild.

Broadway success, "Father Malachy's Miracle," by Brian Doherty of Toronto will be presented Thursday night by the Montreal Repertory Theatre.

Three short plays are to be heard Friday evening — Noel Coward's "Family Album," presented by the Regina Canadian Legion players, "The Woman From Voe," by the Nanaimo Dramatic Academy, Nanaimo, B.C., and "Divinity in Montreal," a one-act play by Janet Alexandra McPhee, produced by the Sixteen-Thirty Club of the Church of Messiah, Montreal.

The Toronto Masques will present Saturday afternoon "The Silver Cord." Ottawa Drama League winds up the week Saturday evening with a farce, "French Without Tears," by Terrence Merryn Rattigan.

Social and Personal

Mrs. Sherwood Herchmer, who has been spending the winter in California, arrived on Sunday to visit with Judge and Mrs. G. Thompson of Vancouver, who are spending a month here as guests at the Old Charming Inn, Oak Bay. Mrs. Herchmer will also visit her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. H. K. Anstie, Beach Drive.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert J. Pendray, Esquimalt Lagoon, will leave on Friday for Vancouver, from where they will sail on the Erria for England via the Panama Canal. Mr. and Mrs. Pendray will visit in Norway, Sweden and Denmark and will return to New York to spend some time there before returning to Victoria about the end of next August.

A St. Patrick's party was held last Saturday evening at the home of Miss Joan Gower, 2212 Belmont Avenue. A very enjoyable evening was spent in playing games. Refreshments were served from a lace-covered table with a centrepiece of daffodils. The invited guests were: Dorothy Mackay, Ethel Price, Jean Webb, Ruth Turner, Eleanor and Florence Drader, Joan Gower and Barbara Munro.

Pioneer Too Much

CAPE TOWN—Miss Sarah Gertrude Millin, South African author, has returned from England quite appreciative of her reception there, but complaining English papers called her a Kimberley pioneer. "I must be 80 years old," she mourned.

Hat Causes Black-out

LONDON—Cart-wheel brim on the hat of a woman witness so hid her face she was told to keep her head turned so the court registrar could see her.

Winners among 2,500 screen aspirants in a New York competition for a chance in Hollywood, were Dorothea Davis, 17, a model from Winnipeg, Man., and Charles Ruppert, 23, student in a New London, Conn., military academy. It looks safe to say that Canadians (and others) will follow Miss Davis' career with relish.

Mlle. Eve Curie Worries About 'Second Book'

NEW YORK — Mlle. Eve Curie is worried about "that second book."

"I suppose I'll write a little more," she said today, following her arrival from France. "But that second book has got me worried.

"If I do try to write another one, it will be about women scientists—down through the ages. Women have contributed more to science than any one dreams."

Mlle. Curie, who is the daughter and biographer of the famed woman scientist, Marie Curie, discoverer of radium, arrived in New York aboard the French liner Paris. With Col. Theodore Roosevelt as one of her audience, she received the press at noon in the offices of Doubleday & Doran, publishers.

She had the appearance of what is commonly described as a "fashion plate"—dressed in a short-sleeved gown, designed by a famous Parisian stylist. She spoke faultless English—none of which she used to discuss politics.

SPEAKS PERFECT ENGLISH

She punctuated her remarks with expressive gestures of her long, slender hands. Her nails were tipped with bright red.

"I have not lived a very useful life," Mlle. Curie said. "Nor had I been a very useful person until I wrote the story about my mother.

"It was the book that really founded my career—in the people I have met and the requests I have had to speak about my mother."

Mlle. Curie would not discuss politics, but said she was "interested." She thought France was a more united country than ever before.

Col. Roosevelt invited Mlle. Curie to spend a week-end at the family home after she returns from her lecture tour, saying that his mother was very eager to meet her.

"She thinks your book is one of the most important ever written," he said. She accepted the invitation.

The ladies have a Fuehrer, too, in Germany. She is Mrs. Gertrud Scholtz-Klink, officially "Reichsfrauen Fuehrerin," and she directs all women's activities.

Modern Etiquette

By ROBERTA LEE

1. Is it good manners to "brag" about how poor you are?

2. Does a sophisticated person use his ancestors as conversational material?

3. Should one talk about the cost of food during a meal?

4. If you are late for an appointment, should you keep making excuses or make an apology and then turn your attention toward the person you are meeting?

5. Is it usually a good idea to begin a friendly letter with an apology for not having written sooner?

What would you do if—

Someone compliments you on a pair of new shoes—

(a) Say "Thank you"?

(b) Say "Thank you. They came from —"?

Answers

1. No. It can be as much a pose as bragging about how much you have.
2. No.
3. No.
4. The latter. To keep on talking about yourself, even though you are making excuses, shows that you are more interested in yourself than in your companion.
5. No.

Best "What Would You Do" solution—(a); (b) sounds as though you are bragging, for you wouldn't mention the store unless it were a good one, and (c) belittles the other person's taste.

(c) Say, "I'm not crazy about them myself"?

Hunts for Wild Life With Her Camera

New York Girl Has Roamed Arctic In Quest of Game

By SAM ROBERTSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK (CP) — Miss Lorene Squire, an American young woman who roams the Arctic and sub-Arctic armed only with a camera—and raises an eyebrow in amusement when it is suggested that might be dangerous—is plotting a tramp through Ontario's northern hinterlands. She is on the trail of snow geese and the wild ducks found in that little-inhabited region.

Some 10 years ago she found she could not join her father and brother in their hunting expeditions around the Squire home at Harper, Kansas. She probably was a little girl in pigtails then, for she seems to be in her mid-twenties now. "I simply couldn't hit anything with a gun," she recalls. So she turned to "shooting" wild life with a camera.

WOLVES AND SWANS

The handsome and humanitarian huntress, who has never experienced the hair-lifting thrill of encountering a bear or a wolf on her jaunts into the trackless regions—she doesn't think a wolf would harm a human that didn't try to harm it—got her greatest thrill from catching a wild swan with the camera's eye. She succeeded in the quest while somewhere north of Lake Athabaska, which sits astride the Saskatchewan-Alberta boundary.

"Everyone said the swans were too wild, and too scary to be snapped," she said "Being womanly stubborn, I set out anyway. Finally, from atop a tall hill, the guide and myself spotted a fine swan preening in a lake. We started for the shore, but advanced so carefully for fear of scaring the swan it must have taken us a couple of hours. The flies and mosquitoes—young elephants they were—made it seem like a couple of weeks.

"We decided to try and approach closer in a canoe. It meant a long trip back for the canoe, and no sooner had it struck the water than the swan was off—but my camera shutter wasn't."

It was some time later that Miss Squire met up with another swan. There were several, in fact, including a nest of young ones. One of the resultant pictures shows a swan banking gracefully to a landing like a streamlined airplane. Another, of baby swans, was taken so close a person is tempted to reach out and feel the snowy down.

The prime requisite for her sort of photography, Miss Squire says, is patience. She doesn't think there is anything unusual in finding that quality in a woman.

Ferocious Animals Battle in Water

NEW YORK — The swarming life in a drop of water was revealed today on a five-foot screen at the Engineers' Club by means of a magnifying device called the michovivarium.

An audience of scientists and educators gasped at the sight of a battle royal between didinia and parmecia, animals so small in nature that thousands could dance on a pin point.

They watched the tiny worm, the oligochet, a distant cousin of the angle worm, digest food. This trick was performed by feeding the transparent animal a meal of red dye before the act began.

The spectators were even able to see the elementary division which passes for sex life with the unicellular parmecium.

A PREVIEW OF FAIR

The preview was staked by the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, in whose building at the World's Fair the microvarium will be an attraction. Only one micro projector was used, but at the fair a battery of 12 will be operated.

Dr. Georg Roemmert, creator of the microvarium, conducted the demonstration, which magnified the life in the drop of water roughly 2,000 times.

Surgeon Offers Free Service to Youth

WINNIPEG (CP)—Dr. Ramon Gastroveijo of New York has offered to perform operations without charge which would restore the sight of Lorne Brockest Jr., blinded in an explosion. Brockest's hands were burned to useless stumps in the blast which killed three persons, including his father, in October, 1934.

The New York doctor examined the 24-year-old Brockest here last summer and declared there was an excellent chance of restoring sight if the operations were performed. He also will try to repair the injuries done to the youth's face and hands.

Friends of Brockest have launched a campaign to obtain $3,000 for expenses surrounding the trip to New York and care during the period the operations would require.

Nazis Mention Canada

BERLIN (CP-Havas)—A reference to Canada was included in comment on the international situation yesterday by the newspaper Frankfurter Zeitung.

"Germany is not claiming to have vital interests in the space between Quebec and Montreal," it said. "Great Britain has no vital interests in the space between Dresden and Vienna (Czechoslovakia).

MEETS OLD FOE—Although rumored to be a fugitive, General Jan Syrovy, former Premier, War Minister in the last Czechoslovak Cabinet and Lord Mayor of Prague, is shown in this radiophoto being received by Adolf Hitler in Hradcany Castle, Prague. The Fuehrer promised him a "long period of peace and cultural development" for the city of Prague.

Assize Jury at Tragedy Scene

Visit Field Where Mrs. Dulcie Hanham Found Dead

The Crown's case against R. A. Wright, standing trial for the murder of Dulcie Track, also known as Dulcie Hanham, continued in the Assize Court yesterday with presentation of evidence on the discovery of the accused with his wrists slashed, and testimony dealing with the relationship between Wright and the deceased woman.

During the afternoon, at the request of P. J. Sinnott, defence counsel, the jury visited the Colville Road location where the body of the woman was found on the morning of January 28. Question arose near the close of the hearing over admissibility of certain statements by the accused when he was taken to hospital.

With the jury excluded, Peris Atkinson, city police officer, stated Wright had made statements in the admitting office at the Jubilee Hospital.

"Oh my darling, oh my darling. I got to go, I got to go. I'm going to die," the officer quoted the accused as saying.

Constable Gilbert Stancombe, Esquimalt, returned to the stand after the luncheon adjournment and gave further data on discovery of pieces of hair and vegetation in the hands and on the clothes of the deceased. He also testified samples of hair had been clipped from Wright's head. No finger prints, foot prints nor wheel marks had been found near the body of the deceased, he said.

CRIMINOLOGIST TESTIFIES

Inspector J. F. C. B. Vance, criminologist of Vancouver, reported an exhaustive analysis of the exhibits had shown none of the hair held by the deceased or found on her clothing was that of the accused. While there was blood on the clothes of the accused, it had not been identified, the inspector said.

Thomas O'Neil told the court he had discovered Wright lying in a clearing off Tyee Road about 2.20 p.m. on January 30, with his wrists and neck cut and had summoned the police ambulance. Constable Atkinson supported his testimony on location of the accused and described certain events in the Jubilee Hospital, where statements were made.

Archie S. Miller identified a bill signed by the accused and J. H. Beatty later declared letters taken from a truck of the deceased were in the same writing.

E. E. Hanham, common-law husband of the dead woman, gave evidence on the activities of himself and Dulcie Track since 1931, their acquaintance with the accused, the number of times they had lived in Wright's house and the terms of intimacy which existed between Wright and Mrs. Hanham.

In reply to question by Mr. Sinnott, Hanham stated he had been at Stacey's, Goldstream, from January 24 until called into town by police on January 28.

William John Gower, Fernwood Road, gave evidence of a visit from Mrs. Hanham late on the night of December 29. She had appeared very excited and had telephoned the police, he said. Constable Joe Addison stated on that occasion he had spoken to the woman at Mr. Gower's residence and driven her to 1513 Vining Street.

Indecent Magazine Import Attacked

OTTAWA (CP) — Two Conservative members, Denton Massey, Toronto-Greenwood, and Frank E. Lennard, Wentworth, Ont., expressed concern in the House of Commons yesterday at the number of indecent United States periodicals sold in Canada.

Mr. Massey asked whether it would not be possible to reimpose the duty levied against foreign periodicals a few years ago, but the House passed the clause in the Canada-United States trade agreement guaranteeing continuance of their free entry.

"No tariff can be a protector of morals," said Hon. Charles Dunning, Minister of Finance.

Halifax Says Rules Violated

Nazi Seizure of Czechoslovakia Against Elementary Laws

LONDON (CP-Havas)—Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax last night described German absorption of Czechoslovakia as a "violation of the elementary rules of international conduct."

In the House of Lords he stated Great Britain had begun "close and practical consultation" with the Dominions and other governments to study the dangerous situation created by Chancellor Hitler's coup in Czechoslovakia.

Charging the Fuehrer had scrapped his "philosophy" of self-determination for a program of imperial expansion, the Foreign Secretary declared:

"We are confronted with the arbitrary suppression of an independent sovereign state by armed force."

"Some answer must be given to the challenge," said Most Rev. Cosmo Gordon Lang, Archbishop of Canterbury, "and the answer must be given in terms the German rulers understand. Against the claim that might is right there must be a massing of might on the side of right."

The Prelate said he recognized scruples entertained by many against treating with the Soviet Union, but added:

"Where supreme issues are concerned we must be ready to accept help from whatever quarter."

The Archbishop advocated a declaration for peace by world Christianity under the leadership of Pope Pius XII.

CHAMBERLAIN CRITICIZED

Baron Snell, Labor, said Prime Minister Chamberlain's action at Munich appeared to be a personal policy in which the Prime Minister ignored the advice of his friends and rejected the criticism of his opponents.

"He appeared to depart from diplomatic practice and experience to show trained diplomatists how their business should be conducted. One thing should be clear from these events—henceforth diplomacy should be left to those whose business it is to understand it," said Lord Snell.

"Even now it would appear the Prime Minister is unshakeable in the belief he was right in that policy and everybody else wrong."

The statement was greeted by cheers from the Labor bench and counter cheers from the government side.

"It is not often that one man is right against the world, although it has happened previously," Lord Snell continued. "In any case it seems to me it is for the Premier himself to decide what existing circumstances require of him."

Activities of Boys' Club Told

Gyros Hear of Athletic and Hobby Organization

The founding of the Boys' Athletic and Hobby Club of Victoria, its objects and its operation were reviewed at the monthly Gyro Club dinner last night by the two men who were instrumental in its organization, Morris L. Greene and Magistrate Henry Hall. The dinner was held at Terry's.

Mr. Greene was the principal speaker, being introduced by Magistrate Hall after the latter had been introduced by R. Wilson, chairman.

Mr. Greene explained the hobby club was an outcropping of the efforts made by the Rotary Club to organize a yearly picnic for underprivileged boys of the city. The city donated a 15-room home at 2640 Cook Street as a headquarters for the club and since its founding under the Societies Act there had been considerable repairing and renovating done, mostly by the boys themselves. During the first month there was about $700 worth of work done by the boys. This had been made possible largely through the co-operation and kindness of city merchants and business houses. The Rotary Club gave a grant of $50.

Mr. Greene said there were 90 boys included in the club membership at present. He emphasized the fact that the club was not intended for delinquent boys as a corrective institution but for boys who would not ordinarily receive such means of recreation and any others who cared to affiliate. There was no membership fee for the boys, he said.

At present the principal occupation of the boys at the club was boxing, wrestling and table tennis but it was hoped in the not too distant future to start small machine and woodworking shops in the building to give the boys gainful hobbies.

Mr. Greene told of the amateur boxing shows staged by the boys at the Army and Navy Hall which produced revenue to meet current expenses.

He urged members of the club to co-operate and take part in the work. Under the club's registration it was possible to issue associate memberships at $5 a year and these formed a means by which clubmen could give material assistance, he said.

The boxing and wrestling were under the supervision of Louis Callan and the table tennis under Lawrence Greenwood, both members of the city police department, Mr. Greene said.

At the close of his address the clubmen were entertained by two boxing bouts. In the first Donald "Brown Bomber" Munro, eight, took on his elder brother, Johnny "The Blonde Marvel," nine, and in the second Jack McLeod and Al Perkins fought three rounds at 145 pounds. Constable Callan also demonstrated methods of teaching boxing to the pupils.

DICKENS' INSIGHT OF CHILDREN TOLD

Harry Wood Speaks to Dickens Club On Gems From Author's Books

The regular meeting of the Victoria Dickens Fellowship was held last evening in the club-rooms, Fort Street, with H. L. Fensham presiding.

Mrs. Nellie McClung, scheduled to speak, was unavoidably absent from the city.

Harry Wood gave an address in the form of a ramble through the pages of Dickens, touching upon some of the gems of literature to be found in various passages throughout his books. Mr. Wood particularly emphasized Dickens' remarkable insight into the minds of children and gave as an example the character "Pip," in "Great Expectations," who suffered much injustice at the hands of his elder sisters who brought him up. There were paragraphs in this book Mr. Wood thought might well be read and observed by all those in charge of young children.

Mr. Wood closed his address with a plea for increased membership in the fellowship among the younger generation, whose job it would be to carry on the Dickensian torch.

An article written by Enid Dickens Hawksley, granddaughter of Charles Dickens, and daughter of the late Sir Henry Dickens, published in a recent issue of Queen magazine, was read by Mrs. C. G. Fox. In the article the writer told of the regard and reverence for Dickens that she encountered among the American people.

Members were informed that the recently organized Dickens study circle had adopted the name of the Pickwick Club and were starting a "Mite Box," the proceeds to be given to charity.

SAYS CBC BEER BAN NOT RIGHT

Brewing Interests, However, Are Opposed By 1,000,000 Roman Catholics

MONTREAL (CP)—The Canadian Broadcasting Corporation has no right to prohibit any form of decent advertising, Louis St. Laurent, counsel for a group of radio artists, yesterday told a conference discussing the corporation's ban of beer programs from the air.

The ban, to take effect in Quebec province two weeks' hence, is not within the Dominion government's jurisdiction, St. Laurent told the meeting, held in camera, between the CBC, province of Quebec breweries and artists. Prohibition was a provincial matter, he said, and suppression of advertising connected with alcohol rested also with the provinces.

Later, a delegation representing about 20 Roman Catholic societies with a claimed membership of close to 1,000,000 supported the ban in an interview with the board. Members of the Quebec Temperance League and the Salvation Army joined with this group.

In the earlier conference, St. Laurent warned there would be "disastrous effects" if the ban were enforced.

Sponsors of beer programs spend more than $200,000,000 a year and with that source of income cut off the unemployment problem would be more acute

Would Sweep Rugby Titles

J.B.A.A. and Oak Bay Wanderers Seek B.C. Club Championships Saturday

A complete sweep of provincial rugby laurels is the aim of Victoria rugby units.

A couple of weeks back this city's representative fifteen copped major British Columbia honors—the McKechnie Cup—with a smashing victory over Vancouver reps, and on Saturday two smart squads wearing the Capital City colors will invade the mainland metropolis in an effort to complete the sweep of silverpieces at stake on the provincial battlefront.

Manager Bob McInnes' J.B.A.A. warriors will be gunning for the B.C. senior club championship, of which the Rounsefull Cup is symbolic, when they go up against Vancouver Meralomas and Coach Mickey Murray's Oak Bay Wanderers intermediates will tackle Varsity freshmen for the Province Cup and the provincial intermediate championship.

Both games will be played on the Brockton Point grounds, the intermediate game preceding the senior tussle.

IN GOOD SHAPE

Coach Bert Buller announced today that the Bays would be at full strength for the scrap and in good shape as regular practice sessions have been maintained. The Oarsmen will be defending the laurels they won last year, and if they succeed it will be the first time in the history of play for the Rounsefell Cup that a Victoria team has won the trophy two years running.

The Bays have been flashing beautiful teamwork all season, the same co-operation that has carried the club colors through to three consecutive city championships, and are considered capable of beating the mainland challengers. Bay forwards are fast and always on the ball, and the backfield is capable of carrying the ball deep into enemy territory.

The record of Mickey Murray's Wanderers for this season is a meritous one and their fight with the younger thunderbirds from the university campus should provide keen competition. The Wanderers, a young fast team in all departments, have suffered few defeats, and according to the coach are in tip-top form.

The J.B.A.A. team for the Vancouver trip follows: Bob Mair, Doug Bray, Joe Andrews, Frank Doheney, Bert Simpson, Cyril Doheney, Leighton, George Langdon, Buzz Brown, Jack Ferguson, Bill Halkett, Freddy Smith, Bill Thompson and Lorne Ritchie.

Sports Mirror

By PETE SALLAWAY

IN MIAMI THE OTHER day Walter Hagen watched Horton Smith and Henry Picard sink 15 and 12-foot putts for birdies and then said he hadn't rammed home a putt like those since 1914. Yet The Haig, with no preparation, was the star of the first round of the international fourball matches. It was not the immortal Hagen's fault that he and Gene Sarazen were knocked out. Sarazen was of little help.

Hagen had a 68 in the morning and needed four for 69 in the afternoon. The way he hit his shots amazed Sarazen and the day's biggest gallery. And so pleased was the 47-year-old Hagen that he announced his return to competition. Hagen ankled into the test in typical Hagan fashion, after a shave and a few practice swings. He had played only a half dozen rounds since last September. It was only a few months ago, while on a world tour with Joe Kirkwood, that he was delirious from malaria in India.

Hagen has won 55 major tournaments dating back to his first United States open at Chicago in 1914 and perhaps carelessly tossed away nearly as many more.

Richard Arlen, the movie actor, tells of Hagen needing a three on a short hole to tie the then young Harold McSpaden in the Sacramento open of 1934. Jug McSpaden, just married, was seeking his first important tournament victory.

"See that trap out there," remarked The Haig, as his tee shot found it. "This will be a fine wedding gift for that kid."

Hagen made his last great stand in the United States open over the treacherous Oakmont course in 1935, when he was forced to play his entire last round in a storm and finished three strokes back of Sam Parks.

Anyway, it is pleasing to know that the great Hagen will appear in the North and South open at Pinehurst, which opened today; the Greenboro open, March 24-26; the Masters' Tournament at Augusta March 30, 31-April 1, 2; and go right on through the P.G.A. and United States open.

Golf has suffered for lack of color since The Haig and Robert Tyre Jones let down.

William Lawson Little Jr. insists that he would do it all over were he again a celebrated amateur and turn professional. He calls the money players as fine a group as he ever met and the only real simonpures.

Little asserts that in the spring of 1936, after he had become the first player in history to bag both the British and American amateurs in successive years, he was offered $6,000 a year and all expenses by a concern handling two entirely different kinds of products and shown a way in which he could remain an amateur.

"I was to play with certain of this firm's products and sell others," explains the young man who accomplished the unprecedented feat of winning 39 consecutive matches in major competition.

But Little didn't like masquerading, decided to go all the way, and signed for a tour he made with Horton Smith and Jimmy Thomson. They were later joined by Henry Cooper.

The professionals like Little and his power game and believe he will be in the select circle in another year.

Other shotmakers making rapid progress are Ben Hogan, a 134-pound Texan who swats the ball from course to course, and E. J. (Dutch) Harrison of Little Rock and Chandler Harper of Norfolk, who, as Henry Picard will tell you, certainly can manage a putt.

But all have a long way to go when you realize that Ralph Guldahl and Samuel Jackson Snead established a new tournament record in using exactly 28 strokes, seven under par, for their best-ball in smothering Horton Smith and Paul Runyan on the outgoing nine of the afternoon round of the final of the fourball event.

These fellows today make true championship tests look like miniature golf courses.

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The University of Pittsburgh's trustees last night named Charles W. Bowser, an honor student and gridiron star at the institution from 1920 to 1923, to succeed Dr. John Blain (Jock) Sutherland as football coach.

Sutherland in resigning criticized the school's administration, as did Don F. Saunders, executive secretary of general alumni association, who announced his resignation last night.

STRICKLAND IN KNOCKOUT WIN

New Zealand Heavyweight Puts Emil Scholtz Away In Eighth Round

NEWARK, N.J. (AP)—Maurice Strickland, 195, New Zealand heavyweight boxing champion, knocked out Emil Scholtz, 193, Boston, in 1.10 of the eighth round of a scheduled 10-round feature last night.

The match was slow for the first six sessions with Strickland, although piling up points, unable to solve his opponents mauling style.

But midway in the seventh, Strickland, who was ranked as sixth challenger for Joe Louis' title yesterday by the National Boxing Association, found the range of the New Englanders' jaw and brought him up short with jolting blows. He finished him off in the next round.

Sports Card at Otter Point Camp

The first sport card staged under the auspices of the R.P.W.U. at Public Works Construction Camp 104, Otter Point, V.I., recently produced an unexpected array of talent from all parts of Canada. Harvey "Kid" Gillis and Harry "Blackie" Haywood, both prairie boys in the lightweight class, fought five keen, fast rounds to a draw.

In the middleweight class, "Slim" Harris of Otter Point was matched with N. A. "Smily" Amiel of Montreal. Harris used his height and reach to good advantage against his wilier opponent. Their three-round bout was a draw.

In the opener, two bantams, "Shorty" and "Blondy," had speed and punch and enthusiasm.

Jack Wolfe, of the Provincial Recreational Centre, Vancouver, starred in two wrestling bouts, defeating A. W. Garceau, former welterweight champion of Quebec, in two straight falls, and then gave a fine exhibition of endurance in a comedy wrestling bout with J. Fazekas.

Harry Scott of Victoria was referee for all events.

POLE VAULT THAT SET NEW RECORD—Milt Padway, crack vaulter from the University of Wisconsin, is seen going over the bar at 14 feet 1⅜ inches, to establish a new indoor record for the Big Ten meet held recently at Chicago. The former mark was 13 feet 4⅞ inches.

Cleveland Weak

Indians Will Need Lot of Luck To Be Threat in Major Baseball Race

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—A two-day study of the Cleveland Indians has convinced me they will need plenty of luck to finish as high in the coming American League baseball race as they did in the last, when they wound up third after buckling in the latter stages.

"I'm pretty certain I saw three clubs in Florida—New York, Boston and Detroit—that will take the Indians' measure. Their once great pitching staff is beginning to fall apart, and they still are inadequate at second base and shortstop.

The Indians for the last several seasons have been able to count upon Mel Harder, Johnny Allen and Bob Feller to give them brilliant pitching on about three days out of four. But now it looks to me like they've lost Allen, and that's a blow they can't survive.

Allen hurt his arm pitching in the last all-star game at Cincinnati after having set a phenomenal record for the first half of the season. During the winter they split open his elbow and removed one of those "spurs" that have become fashionable with our tossers.

WON'T BE READY

Even if by some miracle the wing finally comes back completely, Allen won't be ready to pitch before the first of May. The team's veteran shortstop, Lyn Lary, a holdout, finally pulled into camp yesterday and signed his 1939 contract, but his position seems to be occupied by Jimmy "Skeeter" Webb, of Meridian, Miss.

Indian officials professed indifference to the whereabouts of their holdout outfielder, Earl Averill. They only deny most emphatically that they are trying to trade him to the St. Louis Browns for Don Heffner, though I don't see why, for they certainly could use Heffner at second base. As it is, they must depend upon Odell Hale again.

With five outfielders in camp such as Jeff Heath, Ben Chapman, Bruce Campbell, Julius Solters and Roy Weatherly, the Indians can struggle along very nicely without Averill, even though he hit .330 last year.

MT. TOLMIE WINS SOCCER TROPHY

With a record of 13 wins, two losses and two draws, Mount Tolmie footballers won the Merchants' Football League championship last Saturday for the second successive year. They retain the New Method Laundry Cup.

The Tolmies compiled a record of 28 points in league play, just twice as many points as the runners-up amassed. The runners-up were the Navy ball-kickers. Young Conservatives finished in third place, one point behind the sailors, and Admirals, a team that won only two games but refused to quit and stayed in competition right to the finish, finished in the last berth.

ARMSTRONG MATCHED

NEW YORK (AP) — Eddie Meade, manager of double-champion Henry Armstrong, announced yesterday Armstrong will defend his world welterweight title in England May 22 against the winner of the Renie Broderick-Young Jake Kilrain fight.

Sailors Tackle Bays Tomorrow

Featuring tomorrow afternoon's Pendray Cup, Wednesday Football League card will be the battle between Navy and Hudson's Bay, co-holders of the second berth, at the Athletic Park.

The other game carded will bring together leading Spencers and Victoria City, cellar occupants at Beacon Hill Park. The City, if they can field a full team, should be able to make things interesting for the Diamond S's, who need a victory to keep their leadership spot. The City fielded 11 men last week and managed to hold the Navy to a draw.

Both games start at 2.30.

Spencers team follows: Stewardson, McMillan, Cann, Bradley, Pierce, K. Gent, B. Brown, McBride, Collins, Thomas, P. Ponsford, Reside. Reserves: Richards, Byatt and D. Ponsford.

Baseball Gossip

LAKELAND, Fla.—Lou Rogell, veteran Detroit shortstop, who is fighting to keep his job, takes time off from baseball today to play host to a party for orphan children. Bill met a group of the kids on the street and stopped to chat. Thus the party—for children of the Keller Orphans' Home in Lakeland. The rest of the Tigers play the St. Louis Cardinals at St. Petersburg.

Sebring, Fla.—The New York Yankees may not be so hot afield at this stage of training, but there's some consolation in knowing that big Charley Ruffing is "right." Rufus the Red hasn't given up an earned run this spring in exhibition games and he had a string of six scoreless innings before Lou Gehrig's error gave the Boston Bees a tally in the fourth inning yesterday.

St. Petersburg, Fla.—Slugging Joe Medwick's protracted holdout is bringing frowns to the faces of the St. Louis Cardinals. Joe is a great spring hitter—if he's in shape—and every day he stays outside the ranks hampers the Cards' chances of getting a flying start.

Pasadena, Calif. — Manager Jimmy Dykes of the Chicago White Sox is elated over Joe Kuhel's comeback after a poor season. Joe got a homer and single against Pittsburgh yesterday. He is in great shape and is playing a fine defensive game.

Bradenton, Fla.—Paul Derringer today informed Manager Bill McKechnie that he's ready to take his turn on the mound for Cincinnati in exhibition games. The veteran right-hander has been laid up with an attack of influenza.

Clearwater, Fla.—One story is that it was one of Larry MacPhail's plots to instill confidence in his Brooklyn Dodgers when he had them train in a park where the low right field wall is only 290 feet from the plate. Dolph Camilli belted three homers against the Cards yesterday and another drive went at least 350 feet.

CHICAGO—Lem Franklin, 197, Chicago, knocked out Lee Savoldi, 189, St. Paul (two); George Nyberg, 149, Port Arthur, stopped Gene O'Leary, 148, Beloit, Wis. (four).

Alan MacLean Swim President

Re-elected Head of V.I. League; Jim McCague New Secretary

Alan MacLean was re-elected president of the Vancouver Island Swimming League at the annual meeting held last night in the Colonist board room. Representatives from the "Y", Pacific and Victoria Amateur Swimming Clubs were present.

Jim McCague was given his important post of secretary treasurer. George Bone, who filled that position for the last five years, declined renomination due to pressure of business.

Bob Hibberson was elected honorary president, Mrs. W. McAllister, first vice-president, and Norval Peterson, second vice-president.

According to the annual reports good progress was made by the league during the last year. Five galas were held, two British Columbia championships, two international affairs and a city championship meet. The treasurer's report showed a good balance on hand.

The president, in his report, paid tribute to the executive for the work they had done in making the 1938-39 season a successful one.

McCague told of the Olympic fund gala to be staged at the Crystal Garden on March 24, and asked the support of the clubs in the event.

OUTDOOR GALA

Tentative steps were taken to stage a British Columbia outdoor championship gala at Thetis Lake during the summer, following the reading of correspondence from the British Columbia section of the Canadian Amateur Swimming Association proposing the revival of such galas.

It was announced that the annual meeting of the provincial body would be held in Vancouver April 1.

GOVERNORS WILL DECIDE PROTEST

Coast Hockey League Moguls Pass on Seattle Claim Tomorrow Night

SEATTLE (AP) — President Phil Lycette of the Seattle Hockey Club said Pacific Coast Hockey League governors would meet here tomorrow night to consider Seattle's protest of Portland's Sunday night playoff victory over the Sea Hawks.

Lycette, who said he filed formal notice of protest, reported league president Fred Taylor of Vancouver, B.C., agreed to call the meeting.

Seattle's manager, Danny Cox, objected when Referee Bill Shaver refused to allow defenceman Pat Egan a goal shot after the whistle was blown for a penalty against Red Conn of Portland.

Lycette said the fourth series game between Portland and Seattle would be here tomorrow night. The Buckaroos now are leading two games to one.

Final Hockey Scoring List

Official Averages Announced By N.H.L.; Lynn Patrick Has 29 Points

MONTREAL (CP)—Just to make it unanimous, the National Hockey League came out last night with the official announcement Hector (Toe) Blake was the league's leading point-getter for 1938-39.

The hard-working left-winger of Montreal Canadiens had a total of 47 points made up of 24 goals and 23 assists. He was three up on Dave (Sweeney) Schriner, of New York Americans, whose 13 goals and 31 assists left him with 44 markers.

Third in line came Bill Cowley, Boston Bruins' clever centre, with only eight goals, but the league-leading total of 34 assists for an aggregate of 42. Marty Barry, veteran Detroit Red Wing centre, and Clint Smith, of New York Rangers, were a point behind Cowley—Barry with 13 and 28 and Smith with 21 and 20.

The statistics confirmed Roy Conacher, starry Boston rookie, as leading goal-getter. With 26 tallies in his first season, young Roy beat out Blake and Alex Shibicky, of New York Rangers, by two.

Runner-up to Cowley for assists was Paul Haynes, who centres Blake and Johnny Gagnon for Canadiens, with credits on 33 goals.

Gordon Drillon, of Toronto, who led the league scorers last year, finished far down in 18th position this season with 34 points made up of 18 goals and 16 assists. A long lay-off because of injury dragged down the youthful sniper's aggregate.

Bad-man of the circuit was "Red" Horner, of Toronto Maple Leafs, who walked away with the "title" by serving 85 minutes imprisonment to beat out Murray Patrick of Rangers, who had 63 minutes plus a match misconduct.

Word of good trout fishing up-island was received today by the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau.

Fly and bait casters are getting good results in Courtenay and Campbell Rivers. Steelhead fishing is in progress in Courtenay, Oyster and Campbell Rivers.

From Alberni the Burea received word that fishing in the Stamp and Somas Rivers is good. Steelhead fishing is falling off, but angling for cutthroat and rainbow trout improving daily. Water is low and clear in these two rivers, and the fish are taking both fly and bait.

Boston Heavy Choice for Stanley Cup

Battle Rangers in First Of Seven-game Round At New York; Other Series

Professional hockey's turbuent six-team battle-royal for its world championship, the Stanley Cup series, begins tonight with one team standing head and shoulders above the others in favoritism.

And because Boston Bruins, as National League champions, are so heavily backed to win the cup, some of the prophets are looking elsewhere for the potential winners. The Bruins have fallen before when it seemed they couldn't be beaten.

In 1930, after losing only five times during the schedule, Boston was whipped in the finals by Montreal Canadiens. Last year, having walked to the old United States division title easily, the Bruins lost three straight games and the league title to Toronto.

The march of Chicago Black Hawks to the Stanley Cup last spring over Toronto's league champions has convinced the trailing clubs that any one of them can win. The Black Hawks were the sixth-best team on paper last year; and this season they were the only ones who didn't reach the playoffs, despite a strengthened line-up.

This time it might be the Rangers, who open a four-of-seven-games round against Boston tonight at New York. The blueshirts have great passing plays, the masterful coaching of Lester Patrick and a line-up that has changed little in three years despite the youth of most of its members.

HAVE PLAYERS INJURED

Then it might be the third-place Maple Leafs or the fourth-place New York Americans, who begin a best-of-three-game round at Toronto hampered by injuries to key men. It might be Detroit Red Wings or the Canadiens, opening another best-of-three series at Montreal with the knowledge that, though they were fifth and sixth, they finished as strongly as any team in the league.

But if you want to set aside other years' happenings and more-recent flashes of ability, you can hardly help calling the Bruins. No team in years has shown the balance, the power and the drive of Art Ross' 1938-39 machine. The club includes more freshmen to the big league than any other, but goalie Frank Brimsek, defenceman Johnny Crawford and wingman Roy Conacher—appearing in a Stanley Cup game for the first time—are just about as good a group of rookies as ever will come along.

Standing in Boston's stead, too, is the fact the round with the Rangers and the finals for the cup will be on a seven-game basis. Form should have a better chance of telling than under the old five-game set-up.

Charlie Sands, right wingman from Port Arthur, Ont., will not start with the Bruins tonight because of a charley-horse. He will be replaced by Red Hamill, aggressive youngster from the Hershey farm club, who has been up before. Cecil Dillon, Ranger veteran, likely will be able to play despite a knee injury.

AMERKS USE MOORE

The other two series—because they are shorter—may be decided by the replacements brought in for injured players. Alfie Moore, who made a brief but successful appearance with Chicago in the 1938 finals, will go into the Americans' goal in place of the injured Earl Robertson. Toronto's lineup has had to be shifted because of a knee injury to Harvey Jackson that may keep him out of the entire series. Pete Langelle, a Winnipeg boy, has been brought in from the Syracuse farm.

Mud Bruneteau, out many weeks with a leg injury, will get back into the game with Detroit to take the place of Charlie Conacher, hard-shooting right wingman whose ankle was cut in a game with Chicago Sunday. Conacher likely will be ready for the second game.

Canadiens have made no announcement about their goal-tending assignment, but it is likely Claude Bourque will get the call over Wilfie Cude. Twice this season the rookie has replaced Cude when Wilfie has been forced from the lineup, and the second time Bourque stuck.

Odds at New York and Toronto are approximately 7 to 5 on Boston and the Leafs to take their opening games, and 8 to 5 that they'll win the series. Canadiens are given an edge on their home

Milk and Its Products

2—SAFE MILK

If a person could have only one food, the best would be milk. It comes closest to being a "perfect" food, and a person could live on it for a long time. If he grew tired of a liquid diet, he could turn some of his milk into cheese. He also could make another solid food—butter—but most of us wouldn't care about eating butter if we had no bread to put it on!

A cream separator at work. It divides the cream and the skimmed milk.

Still another solid which can be taken from milk is a special kind of sugar. A quart of milk contains more than an ounce and a half of milk sugar. Another name for milk sugar is "lactose."

There is fat in milk—an average of about an ounce and one-fourth to a quart. The fat is made up of tiny bits known as "globules." Nearly all of the fat rises with the cream.

Each quart of milk has just about one ounce of protein, a body-building food. The protein has the special name of "casein," pronounced "kay-see-in," with accent on the "kay." It is good as a food, and also may be taken from the milk and used in a number of ways. Combs, rims for eyeglasses, billiard balls and fountain pen barrels are among the things sometimes made from the casein of milk. It also goes into certain kinds of glue and paint.

One trouble with milk is that it makes a good home for the tiny plants known as "bacteria." They are so small that thousands of them could rest on the head of a pin.

Most bacteria found in milk are not harmful, but some kinds are. They may cause such an illness as scarlet fever or typhoid. A cow which drinks water containing typhoid germs may pass the same kind of germs to people who drink the milk.

Because of such danger, people who handle milk should keep it as clean as possible. Such care will help a great deal, but is not enough to make the milk safe in every way.

If milk is boiled, the bacteria or germs can be killed. Boiled milk has fine food value, but many persons do not like the taste. That is why the work of Pasteur is so important. He found a way to kill the dangerous germs by heating milk without bringing it to the boiling point. This process is known as "pasteurizing," and it does little, if any, harm to the good taste of milk. When you buy milk with the word "pasteurized" on the bottle or cap, it means the milk has been treated by the method of Pasteur.

The housewife should take pains to keep milk clean and cold. The refrigerator is the proper place for it except when it is being served.

HOROSCOPE

Wednesday, March 22, 1939

Benefic aspects dominate today, according to astrology, but adverse influences are strong.

The early morning hours are auspicious for planning and promising for artistic activities. Increased interest in music is forecast.

Women should find this a fortunate date for their private and public interests. It is most promising for hospitality and club meetings.

This should be a happy wedding day in which love overbalances mercenary motives. Prosperity may be attained slowly but steadily.

Recognition of the importance of making best use of each day's opportunity will be more general than formerly. While this will benefit many, it may also contribute to a reckless attitude among the young.

Buying should be lucky today, when there may be a special urge to indulge long-nurtured dreams of reckless shopping.

Novel programs offered by radio stations will improve service on the air. Changed policies will be beneficial to the public.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of irritations mingled with unusual pleasures. The old may be inclined to write scolding letters to their relatives and to criticize new social customs.

Children born on this day probably will be independent and talented. These subjects of Aries, with Mars as their ruling planet, may appear selfish and concentrate upon ambitious careers.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—I live on a farm with my bachelor brother. I am 35 years old and unmarried. Have never even had a serious boy friend and I am lonely. I am considering answering one of those ads about what to do for loneliness and joining their correspondence clubs and writing to strange men in different parts of the country. The clubs guarantee to help one land a husband and happiness and contentment. What do you think of the correspondent club idea? MAY.

Answer: I think it is the open door to trouble and that you will repent your folly in tears if you walk through it. Use a little common sense. Don't you know that any man who is respectable and fit for a woman to marry doesn't have to advertise for a wife, or marry a perfect stranger?

Don't you know that nobody on earth can guarantee getting a woman a husband who will make her happy and contented? Don't you know that there have been many cases of horrible murders committed by both men and women who got their victims by advertising for husbands and wives?

Believe me, sister, there are worse things than being an old maid. One of them is being married to a bigamist or a convict or a murderer who has only married you to get your little money and then desert you, or make away with you.

DOROTHY DIX.

DEAR MISS DIX—How can I cure my father of verbosity? He is a clever, learned man of unusual genius and intelligence, but his habit of prolonging a speech, going into detail on the most unimportant matters, monopolizing the conversation and repeating to people things that they already know about is causing him to lose his place at the head of organizations and making people shun him more and more. PERPLEXED.

Answer: There is no way to cure people who are enamored of the sound of their own voices. Nothing but death ever silences them.

DOROTHY DIX.

Organization for Possible War Discussed at Annual Meeting

R. L. Challoner was elected chairman of the Victoria branch of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association at its annual meeting in Spencer's dining-room today. He succeeds Herbert J. Pendray.

J. M. Porter was named vice-chairman and H. S. Hammill, R. S. Twining and J. O. Cameron were elected to the executive. Herbert Anscomb, M.P.P., E. W. Izard and W. B. Wilson were appointed representatives to the executive of the British Columbia division. Major P. T. Stern is the branch's permanent secretary.

The branch unanimously endorsed the action of the association in circularizing its members on the subject of the organization of Canadian industry in the event of war. It also urged that one member of a three-man industrial commission which the association plans to set up in the event of an outbreak should come from British Columbia as the third industrial province of the Dominion.

Plans for war-time organization are contained in "Circular 867," which has been sent to members across the Dominion.

"We may be called on, out of the welter of the events of the last few weeks, to enlarge our sphere of influence," the meeting was warned by Alex McKelvie, Vancouver, chairman of the British Columbia division of the C.M.A.

WAR NOT BENEFICIAL

"It would be unfortunate if the impression were made that the manufacture of war supplies would be beneficial to Canadian industry," he said. "Prosperity is at its healthiest and most lasting in peacetime. . . .

"We must make every effort to organize and co-ordinate industry so that it is well prepared," he added. "There is no machinery that we could offer the government more efficient than the Canadian Manufacturers' Association."

Hugh Dalton, Vancouver, permanent secretary of the British Columbia division, speaking of the need for provincial representation on the proposed commission, said: "We do not want a repetition of what happened in 1914 to 1918."

Mr. McKelvie traced the 69-year history of the C.M.A., calling it "the business parliament of Canada" and showing how its organization closely paralleled that set up by the Fathers of Confederation. The executive council in Toronto was equivalent to the House of Commons, the executive committee to the cabinet, the five regional divisions to the provincial governments and the local branches to the municipalities.

He stressed the value to business men of the corps of experts in all subjects which the association maintains at Toronto.

Mr. McKelvie was thanked by E. Tomlin.

Dog Does Damage In Chicken Pen

A dog which entered a private yard on Quadra Street caused such widespread damage among chickens that the owners have communicated with the city asking that something be done to compensate them for the loss of one of their chief means of livelihood.

The property was fenced, the owners said, and the dog killed eight Rhode Island red hens and one thoroughbred rooster.

"Being on relief, these hens provided a good portion of our living," the letter said, "giving 211 eggs in January and 184 in February. We have no means of restocking ourselves with more hens and would appreciate the assistance of Your Worship and the council in this matter."

Severe Quake

A severe earthquake was recorded on the seismograph of the Dominion Meteorological Observatory, Gonzales Heights, beginning at 5.31 yesterday afternoon. The tremors continued one hour.

The distance was estimated at 6,740 miles from Victoria, and while officials of the observatory would not give any definite direction for the epicentre it was indicated it might be either in Chile or in Asia.

The Royal Visit

To Illuminate Destroyers

Brilliant Nautical Scene Being Arranged For Evening of June 2

Victoria may see the four destroyers of the Esquimalt station of the Canadian Navy illuminated and on parade in the Straits for the first time during Royal Visit Week, if the request of the City Council celebrations committee is met by the navy.

At a meeting in the City Hall this morning the committee, under the chairmanship of Alderman W. H. Davies, asked the navy to decorate and illuminate the destroyers Fraser, St. Laurent, Ottawa, and Restigouche and parade them in naval formation in the Straits, off the Beacon Hill waterfront on the evening of June 2.

The request will be taken to naval authorities by Lieut.-Commander J. C. I. Edwards who attended the meeting with Major J. N. Edgar of Work Point Barracks. Aldermen T. W. C. Hawkins and Lloyd Morgan also were present.

The committee was advised May 27 would not be a suitable date for the navy for the Indian regatta and it was decided this would be held June 3.

Tentative arrangements were also made for army and navy boxing championships on June 1.

These events will be staged to entertain the crowds of visitors expected here for the Royal Visit, May 29 to 31

Striking of medals to commemorate Royal events is an old custom, Mrs. J. Porteous of 415 Parry Street, James Bay, points out. The Canadian government is minting 2,500,000 medals for Canada's schoolchildren to commemorate the visit in May and June of King George VI and Queen Elizabeth.

Mrs. Porteous yesterday came across a medal which she received while she was a schoolgirl in commemoration of Queen Victoria's diamond jubilee. The medal shows the head of Queen Victoria on one side. On the other is the inscription "to commemorate the 60th year and the longest reign, 1837 to 1897, of Her Majesty, Queen Victoria." Attached to it is a red, white and blue ribbon and a crown.

VANCOUVER (CP) — H. N. MacCorkindale, superintendent of schools, told the Vancouver School Board last night that approximately 50 miles of school children would line the route of the Royal procession during the visit of the King and Queen in May. He added 250 delegates from schools in the interior are expected. Delegates from Vancouver Island will go to Victoria, he said.

EDMONTON (CP)—Telephone calls from the Royal train are going to be possible when the King and Queen visit Alberta it was disclosed yesterday by J. D. Baker, Deputy Minister of the Alberta Telephone Department.

Special crews will be ready to link the Royal train with telephone lines, and those on the Royal train will be able to communicate with any part of the world where there are telephone services.

Should European matters require the attention of His Majesty while the train is traveling between points in Alberta where stops are scheduled, it will be possible to stop the train and hook the telephone facilities to nearby telegraph or telephone lines, said Mr. Baker.

Wires would carry the conversation between the train to Drummondville, Que., where short wave transmitters would send the spoken word to receivers in England, he explained.

LONDON (CP) — The battle cruiser Repulse, groomed and sleek, will leave Portsmouth today en route to Gibraltar on a shakedown cruise prior to taking Their Majesties to Canada.

Authorities meanwhile are completing elaborate precautions to guard the imperial crown which will be taken to Canada. It is understood the crown—or crowns if the Queen's is taken—will be conveyed in a steel case and guarded day and night in transit.

A representative of the Crown Jewelers is likely to go to Canada to polish up the crown and ensure it is intact upon arrival.

SOUTHAMPTON, Eng. (CP-Havas) — The King and Queen will travel about 7,000 miles on Canadian and United States soil during their forthcoming visit, Alan Lascelles said last week.

Vernal Equinox Brings Spring

Winter Finished as Spring Equinox Occurred at 4.29 This Morning

At 4.20 this morning the vernal equinox occurred, which meant spring officially came to Victoria.

True, Victoria has enjoyed spring-like weather for several weeks, despite dull skies, but a wealth of bloom in gardens in mid-February definitely said spring was just around the corner.

Spring came around the corner today and there is no chance of it turning back.

The occasion was greeted with a perfect sunrise, a blue sky, with fluffy light clouds and warm sunshine.

The vernal equinox means the days and nights are of equal length. This will last only a few days, however, as days will begin to lengthen and the nights to shorten in a week or so. Until June 21 this will go on. After that date the days will shorten.

With the official advent of spring came reports of robins and swallows, humming birds and skylarks, wild lillies and lady-slippers.

George Lovitt, 2411 Lincoln Road, the Willows, telephoned the Times to say he had seen a swallow on the Willows Beach at 7 this morning.

Showers and mists are forecast for tonight and tomorrow, but danger of a freeze-up is definitely past, although it is quite possible sharp frosts may occur.

Unusual in recent days have been the dense fogs that have covered the waters adjacent to Victoria. There was light fog again early this morning. Not often do fogs occur in March.

At the home of Mrs. A. Byatt, 425 Lincoln Road, near the Willows Beach, four swallows returned to the bird house on the house which provides a home for swallows every year. Mrs. Byatt was away from her home last year, but recalls the year before that they returned March 24, three days later.

Ronald Grantham, C.C.F. candidate for the Nanaimo federal riding, addressed members of the Central Saanich C.C.F. Club at the home of D. H. Bryce last Saturday evening. A discussion followed.

Patricia Bay Asks Lower Light Rates

Residents of the Patricia Bay area have applied to the Public Utilities Commission for a reduction in electric light and power rates charged by the B.C. Electric Railway Company in the district, Dr. W. A. Carrothers, chairman of the commission, announced this morning.

Dr. Carrothers said the request will be investigated immediately.

The Fantome, a vessel of 1,223 gross tons, is one of the most palatial pleasure ships afloat, being equipped with up-to-the-minute accommodations for a large number of guests.

She is particularly well known on the Mediterranean Riviera.

The Fantome, a motorship, was built in England in 1927. She has twin-screws and is schooner-rigged.

Adam P. Moffatt, general agent for the Royal Mail Lines in Victoria, supervised arrangements for the docking of the yacht here today.

The trim craft is attracting a great deal of attention along the waterfront this afternoon.

Statements in Murder Trial

Wright's Comments In Hospital Told To Assize Jury

Statements made by the accused while at the Jubilee Hospital, where he was taken following his discovery with slashed wrists on January 30, were given in evidence today as the Assize Court trial of R. A. Wright, charged with the murder of Dulcie Track, otherwise known as Dulcie Hanham, on or about January 27, continued.

Objection to the admission of the statements was taken by P. J. Sinnott, defence counsel. The objection was overruled by Mr. Justice Robertson following adducing of evidence by J. B. Clearihue, K.C., crown prosecutor, showing they had been given without inducement, threat or promise before the accused was placed under arrest.

In addition the court heard a document in the form of a "will," dated January 27, at 3.30 in the afternoon, which purported to state the accused, Wright, had decided "to bring my troubles to an end." He was in debt and could not pay, the document, allegedly written by him and discovered in his trunk, stated.

While the jury was excluded testimony on Wright's statements in the hospital was presented by Constable Peris Atkinson, Constable John Howe, Dr. G. H. Worsley, interne at the Jubilee Hospital who gave the accused emergency treatment, and Constable Gilbert Stancombe.

Mr. Justice Robertson told defence counsel he had the right to put the accused in the box to give evidence on those statements only. Mr. Sinnott declined to follow that course. He contended, however, the accused was not in a normal condition when he mumbled the words.

REPEAT STATEMENTS

Constable Atkinson told the court, when the jury returned, the accused had said:

"I've been trying to get to the police station since Saturday, but I've always been walking in the opposite direction."

The accused, the officer said, had looked directly at him later and stated:

"I know this gentleman. Will you take my keys, go to my house and look in my trunk."

Dr. Worsley quoted the accused as saying:

"I didn't do it. I want to die."

"These wounds are self-inflicted."

He corroborated the evidence given by Constable Atkinson, and added that when Wright was receiving an intravenous treatment Wright had stated:

"I haven't had anything in me. I can't stand it. Oh, death where is thy sting; Oh, grave, where is thy victory?

The doctor further testified Wright had said he had been "drinking a lot and could not remember things."

Constable Stancombe said accused had given directions for a private funeral if he died and had asked certain disposition of his personal effects in such an event, witness stated.

Dr. Worsley and Dr. Walter Bapty both gave evidence that while the accused was in a very exhausted and nervous condition when he was brought to the hospital, he was conscious and would know what he was saying.

NO WEAPONS FOUND

Chief H. W. Pecknold described searches for a razor and a ball-headed hammer in the accused's premises. Neither had been found, he said.

Constable John Howe said a knife with blood stains on one blade had been among the effects taken from Wright at the hospital.

Constable Stancombe also testified to the search of the accused's home and the discovery of one empty rum bottle and one sealed bottle of rye, as well as the "will."

Ernest Victor Webber and Reginald William Nicholson gave evidence of their acquaintanceship with the deceased. The latter stated she had lived in one of his two rooms in a Vining Street house for a short time prior to January 27. She had left the house at 5.45 on the evening of that date without any explanation other than that she was going out, he said. He had not seen her alive since then.

HOLMES—Funeral services for the late William Holmes will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2.30 from St. Luke's Church, Cedar Hill Crossroad, where Rev. Frederick Pike will officiate. S. J. Curry and Son have charge of the arrangements.

STEVENS—Rev. O. L. Jull will conduct funeral services for Frank Slade Stevens at Hayward's B.C. Funeral Chapel tomorrow afternoon at 2, followed by interment in Ross Bay Cemetery.

Problems of Europe Told

Extension Group Hears Prof. F. H. Soward On 'International Affairs'

"The Outlook in International Affairs" was the topic of a lecture given by Professor F. H. Soward to members of the University Extension Association at the Central Junior High School last night.

The lecture centred around relationships between Britain, France, Germany and Italy, with the Czechoslovakian crisis as a turning point.

In 1933 the armament bill was £109,000,000; today it was £520,000,000. A feeling of insecurity among the nations was responsible for this huge program. The nations evidently did not wish to co-operate on any international basis, the speaker said.

The three powers — Germany, Italy and Japan—on one side, and the English and French on the other, seemed to be trying to outwit each other in the international checker game. Many countries were neutral, like Switzerland, the Scandinavian group and the United States. The latter, however, seemed to be trying to find a solution to the problems at hand. Buffer states, like Poland, Roumania and Yugoslavia, were in the most dangerous position. They formed a barrier between the dictator states and their fields of conquest.

HITLER'S CONQUESTS

Hitler's fanatical belief that he was an instrument of destiny to lead the German people to their goal had done much to gain him the support that he now had. This, and other less orthodox means had been used to further his arguments and help him in his marches of conquests.

The British and French premiers only obtained temporary "appeasement" until Hitler demanded fresh territorial rights. Russia had suggested a program such as was being used at present, and it was not until a year later that Britain and France realized that they had made the great mistake of giving in to Hitler's desires.

Hitler's conquest of Austria was one of the cleverest coups that he had ever staged. He pacified the Czech government by terms of assurance and conferences, then marched into Austria where he met with little resistance. The great danger in this coup was the Czech army, and the terms of assurance were kept only until they suited Hitler's purposes. Despite efforts of Britain and France he had now marched into Czechoslovakia and broken the Munich agreement, which slowed down his invasion by only a few days.

STRAIN IN GERMANY

Internal strain in Germany was beginning to be felt. Chamberlain is being severely criticized for his policy in dealing with the situation. Benes made the mistake of trusting his friends too much. Germany was very unpopular in the United States because of her persecution of the Jews. Italy was copying Germany's attitude towards the Jews and was becoming a "Charlie McCarthy" of Hitler. Russia seemed to be undecided, and the important fact of whether or not she threw her lot in with the Germans or the British was a continual source of worry to all those concerned.

In summing up the situation in the Far East, Prof. Soward said that Japan had not broken Chinese unity. On the contrary she had showed China the value of unity and in many ways helped her to become more unified than ever.

Harry Smith, president, was in the chair, and thanked the speaker on behalf of the audience.

CLEMENCY SHOWN TO SHOPLIFTER

No Further Suspended Sentences When Convictions Made, Says Magistrate

Magistrate Hall made an exception to his statement of last week that jail terms would be given shoplifters convicted in the future when he imposed suspended sentence on a middle-aged Saanich pensioner in the City Police Court this morning.

The magistrate explained the exception was being made only because of the unusual circumstances surrounding the case, and if there were any more convictions jail terms would follow.

The man was convicted of stealing three pounds of butter from Safeway Stores. This morning he brought six character witnesses to court who gave excellent references as to his general reputation and character. They said he owned a large farm in Alberta and was the recipient of a disability pension and was not in want.

"There have been three other cases of this kind in court before and the last occasion was a distressing case just as yours is," the magistrate said. "I had intended to carry out the sentence in this case as I said before, but it is a matter of difficulty in a case such as this. In view of very exceptional circumstances I will grant suspended sentence, but the next time, no matter who it is, they will have to go to jail if there is a conviction."

The weekly meeting of the City Council, postponed last night in tribute to the memory of the late James Adam, will be held tomorrow afternoon at 4 in the Council Chamber. The mayor will be a pallbearer at the funeral in the morning and members of the council will attend in a body.

Future Hydro Needs Studied

Water Branch of Land Department Investigating New Supply Sources

The methods by which British Columbia was preparing to meet the demand for greater hydro power to advance growing industries, were outlined by R. C. Farrow, chief hydraulic engineer of the water branch, Department of Lands, in an address to the Victoria section, Canadian Society of Forest Engineers last night.

Over 50 per cent of the power consumed in British Columbia was used by major industrial plants not including the minor manufacturing organizations of the cities, Mr. Farrow stated.

Present power development was adequate to meet existing needs, the speaker stated. The surveys now being conducted by his department were of a preliminary nature only, to chart potential power sites to meet the requirements of any future industrial demand.

Of the 766,000 horse power developed in British Columbia at present, 50 per cent was used by industrial plants, Mr. Farrow remarked, noting Powell River Pulp and Paper Mill took 70,000 horse power against 45,000 used domestically and publicly in Greater Victoria.

He emphasized the fact that ultimate development of timber and mineral resources in the province was largely dependent on the availability of large blocks of water power which could be provided at a competitive cost.

Surveys now being undertaken, Mr. Farrow said, were aimed at providing adequate information on such potential power development, although, in all probability, it might not be required for many years. With the information available, the province had a greater chance of securing development of other industries by interested capital.

Present undeveloped sources of water power on the coast were limited, the speaker said. As a means of making more accessible new sources, the water branch was investigating possible westward diversion of water now draining eastward into the Fraser River basin. Tunnels through sections of the Coast Range would be required for this scheme, he added.

Sites which have been developed by private interests in British Columbia were shown on slides by the speaker in a general summary of progress in the hydro-electric field in the province.

Apple-growers Object To Low Orange Duty

OTTAWA (CP)—A protest from Ontario members representing apple-growing districts against low tariff rates on United States oranges featured consideration of the Canada-United States trade agreement by the House of Commons yesterday. Other members supported the low tariff as making oranges available to Canadians cheap.

Under the old treaty oranges were allowed free entry from January to April, inclusive, and charged 35 cents a cubic foot in other months. Under the new treaty the free period is December to April, inclusive, and there is a provision Canada may make this January to July if she can obtain consent of Empire countries with which she has trade treaties.

For Royal Visit

CALGARY — The city council has approved the tentative expenditure of $14,000 in connection with the visit of Their Majesties to the city, May 26, and in the event of the provincial government not making a contribution to the cost the city is prepared to shoulder the entire load.

A 77-year-old flask of veal broth sealed by Louis Pasteur is called the oldest container of preserved soup in America.

SENTENCES AT VANCOUVER ASSIZES

V. Beynon 2½ Years On Plea of Guilty Of Manslaughter

VANCOUVER (CP) — Victor Beynon of Egmont, B.C., pleaded guilty in the Assize Court here yesterday to a charge of manslaughter in connection with the death last December 18 of Kenneth Clay Brown and was sentenced by Chief Justice Aulay Morrison to two and a half years in the penitentiary.

Beynon had been charged with murder, but the charge was reduced at the request of Crown Counsel A. B. Macdonald.

"I am satisfied by all the evidence of this man's past good record," the Chief Justice said. "While he has pleaded guilty to a serious offence there is no doubt he had certain provocation."

In asking to have the charge reduced, Prosecutor Macdonald said he had studied the case and was convinced Beynon had not acted without certain provocation."

"He had been separated from his wife less than a week when his crippled boy took sick and there was no one to look after him," the crown counsel said. "Beynon took the law into his own hands, went to Brown's cabin, where his wife was living, and shot him."

Frank Gardner, 28-year-old hospital orderly, pleaded guilty to a charge of defamatory libel and was sentenced to one year's imprisonment with hard labor.

Other sentences imposed by the Chief Justice yesterday in cases concluded earlier in the session were:

George Wallace, Fraser Valley Indian convicted on a theft charge, three years' imprisonment. He also was sentenced to six months' imprisonment on a conviction of common assault against Mrs. Rose Kileen in an east end cabin last December 1. The sentences will run concurrently.

William Knighten, young Vancouver negro, two years on a conviction of doing grievous bodily harm and two years for carrying a revolver, the sentences to run concurrently.

Yong Chan-yew, one year in jail and a fine of $200 on a charge of possession of narcotics. He will serve an additional six months' imprisonment if the fine is not paid.

Yip Jim-Ching, Chinese actor, a minimum sentence of six months' imprisonment on a similar charge.

'Let Us Live' an Impressive Film

Maureen O'Sullivan, Fonda and Bellamy, At Dominion Theatre

"There, but for the grace of God, go I" may be considered the true theme of Columbia's newest film at the Dominion Theatre, with Maureen O'Sullivan, Henry Fonda and Ralph Bellamy featured. True motion picture entertainment in its sheerest sense, "Let Us Live" deftly weaves romance, murder, injustice, tragic error, fear and hope in brilliant fashion.

Maureen O'Sullivan is excellently cast in the role of Mary, and Henry Fonda was never so sincere and so effective in his characterization of Brick. Ralph Bellamy is also featured as a conscientious police lieutenant, who moves to rectify his own error at the risk of his life.

'Zaza' Will Be Shown at Atlas

"Zaza," the play that scandalized Paris, London and Broadway at the turn of the century, has been made into a motion picture with Claudette Colbert in the title role and will be on view locally beginning Thursday at the Atlas Theatre. The story of a music hall charmer whose romance with a man of the upper classes proves the tragedy of her life, "Zaza" stars Miss Colbert in one of the most unusual parts of her career. She heads an all-star cast, including suave Herbert Marshall, who plays her lover.

PLAZA THEATRE

A successful stage star for 30 years, Leona Roberts has also found time to successfully raise a family. Her daughter is the prominent Josephine Hutchinson of stage and screen, and her son, Neil Hutchinson is a prominent New York banker. Miss Roberts is now fast winning fame on the silver screen, her latest role being in "I Stand Accused," Republic drama now at the Plaza Theatre.

SHAWN ART TO BE SEEN HERE

Company of Famous Dancers Billed at Royal April 17

The art of Ted Shawn, who with his company of eight men dancers will be seen here in recital April 17 at the Royal Victoria Theatre, is of universal appeal. It can be understood perfectly in all countries, at any time and by all classes of people.

Shawn goes back to fundamentals in his work, and the variety of his themes shows an unusual background of intellectual attainment and imagination. His years of study, research and travel in all parts of the world have given his conceptions a universal basis which proclaims them works of genius.

His programs range from the primitive rhythms of Indian dances to interpretation of the most involved mechanics of modern civilization, and include folk and art themes, as well as labor motifs, religious and classical interpretations. All his work is characterized by vigor and power, and offers not only splendid entertainment, but also an important contribution to creative art. The box office will open April 3 at Terry's Drug Store.

Capitol to Show 'Idiot's Delight'

Norma Shearer and Clark Gable, supported by a group of notable players, co-star in the screen version of Robert Sherwood's Pulitzer prize-winning stage play, "Idiot's Delight," which opens at the Capitol Theatre tomorrow.

The screen version of "Idiot's Delight" is essentially the same as the memorable stage play which starred Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontanne, but Sherwood has taken advantage of the camera's wider range. In the picture the initial meeting of the shabby vaudeville girl and the hoofer in Omaha provides a new opening. On the stage the incident could be established only by dialogue.

ELEVATOR CHARGES TOO HIGH, TELFORD

VANCOUVER (CP) — Mayor Lyle Telford testified before the board of grain commissioners yesterday that the tariff of grain elevator charges in Vancouver is too high and that there is a "racket" in screening grain here.

Chief Commissioner E. B. Ramsay began the Vancouver hearings of the commission before a number of grain company officials and Vancouver residents.

The mayor, reading from a folder of newspaper clippings to support his contention that "private control of grain elevators of to the detriment of the people of Canada," was interrupted by Wendell Farris, K.C., commission counsel, just before the luncheon adjournment.

"The mayor hasn't made a single charge about screenings," Mr. Farris said, after saying Dr. Telford was reading newspaper clippings under oath instead of submitting evidence of his own.

"Out of courtesy to the producers of this province I am going to present my case as fully as possible," the mayor replied.

During the session Mr. Ramsay several times told the mayor his commission is interested in nothing that happened before 1930. Complaints Dr. Telford was reading from his files had all been considered when the Canada Grain Act was passed in that year.

"I hope you're going to be impartial," Dr. Telford said. "I hope you haven't a reconceived judgment in this matter."

"Of course not," the commission chairman said.

Mayor Telford said grain screenings in Vancouver is "one of the most vicious systems imposed by the grain trade." He threatened to "go home" when Mr. Ramsay asked him to be more specific.

"Oh, go ahead," Mr. Ramsay replied and the mayor continued his presentation.

TOTEM PRESENTED TO H.M.C.S. COMOX

COMOX—A silver totem pole, an exact replica in miniature of the totem pole of the Comox tribe of Indians, was presented to H.M.C.S. Comox by the residents of this village in a colorful ceremony in the Community Hall Saturday afternoon. The presentation was made by Rev. A. W. Corker, pastor of St. Peter's Anglican Church, Comox, to Lieut.-Commander H. W. S. Soulsby, in command of the newly-commissioned ship here on her first visit to the town after which she was named. Accompanying the Comox was her sister minesweeper, the Nootka.

In making the presentation, Mr. Corker recounted his translation of the legend of the Comox Indians, a copy of which was also presented the ship.

"The Thunderbird was an emblem of power, strength and love, and there is no record of it ever failing an Indian," he stated. "There is a fine thought for a commander to take to sea with him, particularly in these troublous times. The bear, according to the legend, will be watching to see that the men of the navy do their work well and the Thunderbird, who was never beaten, and who reminds us of something far beyond humanity, will give them power."

The totem was accepted on behalf of the ship's crew by Lieut.-Commander Soulsby.

New Ships for This Run

Holland-America Line Adding 2 Fine Motorships to Service Next Year

Two new combination passenger and freight motor vessels for the North Pacific Coast service between Rotterdam, London, Victoria and Vancouver, are being built by the Holland-America Line, according to information received by Adam P. Moffat, general agent for Royal Mail Lines and the Holland-America Line joint service.

These vessels, which are being built at the Wilton shipyards at Feyenoord, Rotterdam, will be ready for delivery from August to October next year.

Each vessel will have first-class accommodation for 100 passengers and will be equipped with 216,000 cubic feet of refrigerator space.

The principal dimensions are: Length 500 feet overall; beam 64 feet, displacement about 17,850 tons; gross registered tons 10,700, with a service speed of 16 knots. The new ships will be of the Noordam and Zaamdam type, recent additions to the trans-Atlantic service of the Holland-America Line.

The motorships of the Damsterdyk type, which now maintain the company's service between Europe and British Columbia, are equipped with passenger accommodations for 12 to 20 travelers.

Around the Docks

PACIFIC EXPORTER ESCAPED STORMS

Storms which have been playing havoc with British shipping on the Atlantic in recent weeks were escaped by the Furness Line motorship Pacific Exporter, which docked here early this morning from Manchester via Panama.

Capt. J. S. Williamson, master of the Pacific Exporter, reported a fine-weather passage from the United Kingdom. The trip across the Atlantic and up the Pacific was without incident.

Passengers disembarking here included Miss A. M. Garrard and R. H. S. Horsfall, while others aboard for Vancouver were Mrs. M. Denham Kelsey of Oxford, England; Mrs. J. E. Neil and J. W. Walton. Mrs. Kelsey, who is making her third visit to British Columbia, was met here by her son, C. E. Kelsey, a Vancouver banker.

J. B. Boursot and Miss R. S. Jeffrey disembarked at Los Angeles.

The Pacific Exporter's B.C. cargo totaled about 500 tons of general and 3,000 stems of bananas. After putting off shipments of bananas, oranges and vegetables at the Rithet Docks the Furness ship cleared at 2.30 this afternoon for Vancouver.

Snake in Bananas

A still form was stretched out on the rail of the Pacific Exporter as she lay alongside Pier 1, Rithet Docks, this morning, while passengers and ships' officers interestedly watched in the hope that the hot sun would revive it.

Magnifying glasses were brought to bear upon it and other forms of resuscitation were resorted to, but the inanimate object could not be revived.

It was an Ecuador snake, over a foot long, which had been discovered in a stem of bananas, part of the fruit cargo loaded at Guayaquil. Having been in the ship's refrigeration chambers throughout the voyage from Central America, the snake was in a frozen somnolent state.

No one could determine whether it was of a poisonous variety, or not.

Poisonous snakes, sometimes very active, have been found from time to time in banana cargoes here.

Russia Due Saturday

Coming in from the Orient, Ss. Empress of Russia, Capt. J. F. Patrick, will reach quarantine at 6 Saturday morning, James Macfarlane, Canadian Pacific general agent, has been advised. The liner is expected to berth at the Rithet Docks at 7.

The passenger list totals 140 and 666 bags of mail and 60 tons of cargo will be put ashore here before the liner proceeds to Vancouver.

Danish Party By Cunard

C. A. Whitelock, general representative in British Columbia for the Cunard-White Star Line, has been advised that the Danish Royal party accompanying Crown Prince Frederik of Denmark and Crown Princess Ingrid of Denmark will sail eastbound by the Queen Mary May 10 following their visit to the New York World's Fair. Included in this group will be Sybille, Countess Reventlow, lady-in-waiting to the Crown Princess; Capt. Johan V. F. Vest, court marshal to the Crown Princess; Lieut.-Commander Philip C. Weilback, A.D.C. to the Crown Prince; Karl F. Eskeland, chief of the Danish Foreign Office's press department; Miss Inger Quist Jensen, Miss Karen Madsen, Johan Jensen and Anders Andersen.

Br. Ms. Pacific Exporter arrived at Pier 1, Rithet Docks, from Manchester via Seattle, 7.15 a.m. Sailed for Vancouver, 2.30 p.m.

Am. Ss. LaPlacentia, Vancouver for Los Angeles, passed midnight.

Br. Ss. Dallington Court, for Comox, passed 8.45 a.m.

Sees War Alarm Exaggerated

Nazi Move Expected By Financial London; Italy To Be Appeased

A personal cable telling what financial London thinks of the European war scare was received today by H. A. Humber, head of H. A. Humber Ltd., from Burton Baldry, London financial authority and editor of the famous London market letter of Silvertone:

"The importance given the possibility of immediate warlike action by either side is to my mind greatly exaggerated. While Germany's move is no surprise, the manner of attainment, however, has provided the first false step made by the Reich.

"I believe this is the end of Germany's progress for a considerable time inasmuch as she is now encircled by antagonistic countries, with Great Britain, France and Russia ready to defend any aggression against non-German people.

"There is not likely to be any trouble between France and Italy, as Italy will get certain concessions previously promised in the treaty of 1915 and confirmed by the treaty of 1935."

Wheat

WINNIPEG (CP) — Weakness at Liverpool and a more favorable outlook regarding political conditions in Europe brought an early selling flurry at Winnipeg today which pushed wheat futures prices down more than two cents. Trading assumed a steadier trend later and at the close values were 1¼ to 1 cent lower, May at 60½, July 61⅛ and October 62⅛.

Only a scattered export business in Canadian wheat was reported worked overnight.

Liverpool finished 1¼d to 1½d down. Chicago slipped about a cent while Buenos Aires was unchanged to ⅛ cent off.

Yesterday's country marketings reached 226,000 bushels against 101,000 for the same day a year ago.

Coarse grains operations uncovered good demand for oats from domestic mills and fair support for barley credited to maltsters and exporters. Cash wheat trade was quiet.

Tension Eases; Stocks Up

NEW YORK (AP)—European war fears lessened somewhat in world markets today and securities regained a portion of their recent declines. Transfers approximated 700,000 shares.

Traders in New York took their cue from a buying move that got under way earlier at London, Paris and Amsterdam and leading issues were pushed up 1 to 3 points.

Sterling and the French franc were unchanged near midafternoon, the former at $4.68¼ and the latter at 2.64 13-16.

American Telephone jumped more than 3 at the best, and improvement was shown by U.S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, General Motors, Montgomery Ward, Douglas Aircraft, Boeing, Consolidated, Edison, Anaconda, Westinghouse, Du Pont, Eastman Kodak, U.S. Gypsum, Philip Morris, Santa Fe, Chesapeake and Ohio and Standard Oil of N.J.

U.S. governments and rail loans pointed the way for a rising jaunt in the bond department.

Hiram Walker ran up over a point and smaller gains were recorded by Canadian Pacific and Dome. Lake Shore slipped a major fraction and McIntyre Porcupine was a little backward. Canada 4s were in good demand.

Alberta Marble To Be Developed

CALGARY — Development of a Travertine marble deposit, 10 miles west of Cochrane and half a mile east of the Ghost dam, discovered by him three years ago, is announced by E. J. Couch of Calgary.

Mr. Couch has letters from marble authorities stating that the Alberta product is equal if not superior to Italian Travertine, used throughout the world for decorative interior purposes since the days of ancient Rome.

The product, a golden marble, will be used around esculators and in show window floors in the new T. Eaton Company store at Edmonton.

As soon as the weather mederates, Mr. Couch will commence mining the deposit, and preparing it for shipment to Edmonton.
